'Champion' Would Protect Little Man from State

OTTAWA (CP) — The individual Canadian needs "a public champion" to protect him from the mass of government orders and regulations, Douglas Fisher (CCF, Port Arthur) said Friday.

The individual should have some form of "built-in protection" against the state in a society moving towards socialism, he said in an interview.

Mr. Fisher was elaborating on a resolution he has presented in the Commons proposing a special committee to study ways of protecting citizens from "the operation of delegated authority" and to scrutinize "the proliferation, logic and fairness" of government regulations.

His regulations suggested two methods: The kind of public champion used in Scandinavian countries, called an "ombundsman," and the formation of a committee similar to the British Parliament's committee on statutory instruments.

Mr. Fisher said the Scandinavian ombundsman is similar to the Canadian auditor-general, but deals with the protection of individuals against state regulations instead of with the control of government expenditures.

Red Missile-Trackers Shadowed by U.S. Planes

HONOLULU (UPI) — American and Japanese scientists yesterday took up an electronic watch for the first sign of a Russian super-rocket flashing toward its target in the central Pacific. Meanwhile U.S. planes were shadowing missile-tracking Russian vessels in the 45,000 square mile area.

Looking back over her shoulder, Dierdre Bumpus, 1640 Rockland, had only a glimpse of her attacker last night before he ran off with her purse containing $30. Incident occurred at Fort and Belmont Streets, and was the fifth in that district since early December. See story on page 13.—(Colonist photo.)

U.S. Youths Stunned

Treason Charged To 'Nazis'

NEW YORK (AP)—The self-proclaimed leader of a Nazi-like party—which aims to "get rid of all Jews"—and two of his first recruits were charged with treason in court Friday.

The treason charge, which could result in the death penalty, stunned the trio.

"I'm insane," moaned John Wallace, 21, leader of the National American Socialist Renaissance party, "I did this in a state of intoxication."

Wallace, who wears a Hitler-style forelock, and his two followers, Hugh Barlow, 20, and Richard Phelps, 16, both house painters, were scheduled to be charged with consorting for an unlawful purpose.

But Magistrate Milton Solomon said: "As I look at it, treason exists where one plots a war against society and his government."

When he ordered new charges, Wallace clutched his stomach and moaned, Phelps began to wail and Barlow looked stunned.

In Detroit, a 14-year-old boy who said he was the Fuehrer of a teen-age club of Nazis told police Friday he and a younger companion painted swastikas on a public school, smashed a school window and left a note reading "Heil Hitler—the Third Reich."

The boy, son of a University of Detroit English teacher, told police he headed a club which an older brother, now with the U.S. armed forces in Germany, organized among neighborhood boys four years ago.

Russians Approve Arms Cut

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union's parliament voted without dissent yesterday to put into effect Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposal to cut the armed forces by 1,200,000 men. It called on the rest of the world to follow the Soviet lead.

Not a voice among the 1,400 members of the Supreme Soviet was raised in protest and Khrushchev thanked them for it.

Khrushchev introduced his proposal Thursday and made it clear that Soviet military might would be stronger, not weaker, following the troop cuts because the money saved could be channeled into the economy and Russia could rely on its nuclear rocket power.

Future Ice Capades Stars?

Defiance of Order Cause for Discharge

OTTAWA (UPI)—A United States company operating the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line in Canada's far north has ordered complete social segregation of its white employees and Eskimos in the area.

The order by the Federal Electric Company Corporation of Paramus, N.J., dated Dec. 10, 1959, applied to its employees, mostly Canadians, in the "pin" sector of the radar line between Cambridge Bay, N.W.T., and the Yukon-Alaska border.

Failure to comply with the rule, the order said, was "cause for discharge."

CAME TO LIGHT

The order came to light yesterday in the Commons when Mervyn A. Hardie (L, Mackenzie River) asked what the government's part was in the action.

Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton said he would check and reply later.

(A company spokesman at Paramus, N.J., said last night that the regulations applying to the relationship between whites and Eskimos were agreed upon by the governments of Canada and the United States in diplomatic notes. He said Federal Electric's contract for the Dew Line operation was with the United States Air Force.

(Discussions in Ottawa between the company and the department of northern affairs Wednesday ended in agreement that "experience over the last several years has indicated that some existing regulations could possibly be relaxed with beneficial results to all concerned," the spokesman added.)

The new regulation has brought protests from several company employees who questioned the right of Federal Electric to prevent fraternization on the basis of race, color or religion. They have also pointed out that the matter involves direction of the personal lives of Canadians on Canadian soil by an American company.

The question is now being reviewed by the government and the company, it was learned.

Some 80 white employees are involved in the order. There are about 500 Eskimos in close touch with the 11 bases in that sector of the line.

HEALTH PROBLEMS

The company order said that fraternization between whites and Eskimos raised "health and sociological problems of mutual concern." It ordered —under threat of dismissal— an end to:

—All white contacts with Eskimos other than those employed by the company except in cases of emergency.

—All "trading, buying, selling and passing of gifts" between whites and Eskimos.

Students Riot In Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) — Two thousand police today fought with and ejected 500 students who broke through security lines at Tokyo international airport in an attempt to halt departure of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi for Washington.

After an hour of fighting that wrecked the interior of the terminal's showplace restaurant, police hauled away the 500 but some 3,000 others massed in the cold rain about a mile and a half from the airport.

Kishi had changed his departure time in hope of minimizing left-wing protest moves.

The students, members of the ultra-leftist National Federation of Students' Self-Government Association (Zengakuren) were protesting against Kishi's scheduled signing of the new U.S.-Japan security treaty. The association's leaders are so radical they were expelled by the Japan Communist party.

Lawyer Names Gaglardi

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi helped prevent a man from receiving $25,000 which was rightfully his, it was alleged in Supreme Court Friday.

Lawyer Jay Gould made the charge as he sought a court order instructing the minister to show why he should not be committed for contempt of court.

COURT ORDER

The man should have received the money under the terms of a court order but Mr. Gaglardi diverted it to a United States bank from which the man would have great difficulty getting it, Mr. Gould told Mr. Justice T. C. Norris. These actions, he said, showed the minister had aided and abetted in the contempt of a Supreme Court order.

BUSINESSMEN

Mr. Gould was appearing for two American businessmen who say they loaned $50,000 to a construction firm building 12 miles of the Trans-Canada Highway near Revelstoke, B.C. He stressed that Mr. Gaglardi was being cited as a citizen and not necessarily as minister of highways.

Mr. Justice Norris reserved judgment as the two-day hearing ended.

Hasty Judge Chided

LONDON (AP)—A British judge was rebuked by the Court of Criminal Appeal Friday for goading a hesitant jury to hurry up with its verdict because he wanted to catch a train.

The appeal court ruled Judge Sir Wintringham Stable had done "a disservice to the cause of justice" by ordering the jurymen to deliver a verdict within 10 minutes or be locked up for the night. Three men found guilty by the jury had their convictions quashed by the appeal judge.

Man Wins Seven Cars, Can't Drive

LONDON (Reuters) — Douglas Barnes Friday surveyed a fleet of seven new cars he won in a newspaper contest and conceded there was only one drawback—he can't drive.

Stores Hit Within 15 Minutes

Masked Gunmen Grab $150 In Two Nanaimo Holdups

NANAIMO—Masked gunmen held up two corner grocery stores last night and escaped with about $150 and a cash register.

The bandits, with nylon stockings pulled over their heads and covering their faces, raided Dickie's store in Haliburton Wood just before 8 p.m. and picked up $100.

SAME PAIR?

It is believed the same pair of gunmen held up Wagstaff's store on Haliburton Street 15 minutes later, taking a cash register containing about $50 and fleeing in a car.

Police set up roadblocks on highways leading from Nanaimo. But witnesses' description of the bandits and their getaway car was hazy.

SON RAN

David Dickie was closing his business when the men entered. One threatened him with an automatic and pushed him against the till. Mr. Dickie's son Grant looked in on the holdup from the rear of the store and rushed back to fetch a shotgun.

Bandits fled before he could run around the outside of the store.

TIDYING UP

At 8.15 p.m., Fred Wong was tidying up the store he leases from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wagstaff, who live in the rear. He glanced up and saw the barrel of a gun pointing at him.

"This is a holdup," barked one of the pair through his mask. They picked up the register and walked out.

Mr. Wong knocked on the wall, and Mrs. Wagstaff ran out just in time to see a dark-colored car race away in the direction of Chase River.

Police Told To Stop Cafe Raids

VANCOUVER (CP) — City police were instructed Friday to suspend laying of charges of illegal possession of liquor in restaurants after B.C. Supreme Court set aside conviction on such a charge.

Counsel for the Geisha Garden Restaurant, fined $1,000 for having whiskey and sake on the premises, said the sake was for cooking and the whiskey had been left following a licenced banquet.

Jail Faces Skipper If Colony Ship Sails

SEATTLE (UPI)—Coast Guard Rear Admiral Allen Winbeck yesterday issued an ultimatum to Donald A. Harrsch, captain of the Galapagos Island colony ship—the Alert.

Winbeck, commander of the 13th coast guard district here, said that if the Alert sailed from its dock at Westport, about 80 air miles from here, intending to continue on its original journey, the ship would be boarded and its captain arrested.

With its entire crew of 19 persons, including three women and four children, seasick and with water up to the deck plates in its engine room, the Alert was towed into Westport yesterday.

Harrsch issued a distress signal for assistance before trying to get over the Gray's Harbor bar at the entrance to that bay.

The coast guard at Gray's Harbor answered the call and the 40-foot ship Invincible stood by the Alert until daylight. At that time a coast guardsman boarded the vessel and guided it over the bar.

Should the Alert now try to sail out of the bay, Harrsch would be taken to the nearest U.S. federal court and charged with operating a ship or motor vessel in a negligent and reckless manner endangering the lives and property of those abord, Winbeck said.

Conviction under such a charge could result in a fine of up to $2,000 and imprisonment of one year or both.

Chief boatswain R. W. Bowell, coast guard commander at Gray's Harbor, said the boat's pump failed on the 100-foot craft causing Harrsch to send out the distress signal.

DAVID LESLIE PLANES

Run Over by Truck, Boy in Fair Condition

A seven-year-old Saseenos boy was in fair condition this morning after being run over by a one-ton truck on Sooke Road last night.

David Leslie Planes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Planes of Laidlow Road, Saseenos, was treated for concussion and a fractured hip after being rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by West Coast Ambulance about 6 p.m.

Police said the boy apparently ran into the path of a panel truck owned by a Port Renfrew logging firm. Police identified the driver as Marshall Johnston, 4143 Hawkes Avenue, Victoria.

The injured boy's nine-year-old brother, Robert, said he and David were on their way to a nearby grocery store at Saseenos to buy some food for the family's supper.

"He ran out to go to the other side of the road and a truck hit him.

"He went right under it, and after he came out behind it he rolled about two or three times. I ran out to look at him and he had blood all over his face," the brother said.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

ONCE I used to think the pure-food enthusiasts were crazy. Good-hearted, but loose in the head.

Now I am beginning to suspect they are right. Our food is peppered with chemical insect sprays, weed-killers, tranquilizers and growth hormones. How thoroughly have the scientists tested the effects of these things on the human body?

Someone has brought me a copy of "Organic Gardening and Farming," the magazine put out by people who believe in spraying the crops with nothing but water and manuring them with nothing but animal and vegetable matter.

J. J. Rodale, editor of the magazine, is worried about synthetic, mass-production tricks for increasing the yield of meat.

Tranquilizers, fed to steers, produce several extra pounds of "happy beef" and raise profits by $10 a head.

Hormones cause lambs to grow up to 30 per cent fatter than they would have done otherwise.

Female hormone pellets make chickens and lambs into fat capons, and fatten the farmer's wallet, too.

But there seems to be a slight danger that they will make the consumers into capons too. Also, the forced-growth techniques thin out the food value, so that the consumer gets less nourishment for his dollar.

Tranquilizers, antibiotics and hormones, fed to stock, may be passed along to the consumer and give him fits, blotches, allergies, or indigestion; destroy useful bacteria in his insides and weaken hs resistance to disease.

★ ★ ★

I don't know how many of these things really happen. But as long as there is even an outside chance of them—an element of doubt—public food and drug authorities should be leary of letting synthetic growth aids be used.

Until trick chemical farming can be proved safe, there is a lot to be said for eating food that is grown the old-fashioned way.

But where does the consumer get it? Don't ask me.

William C. Kersey, on holiday in California, sends a full-page advertisement from the Los Angeles Examiner, entitled: "Forest Lawn Refuses to Raise Prices."

"Funeral Directors' Lawsuit to be Resisted," it says.

"Forest Lawn regularly provides complete undertaking for $90. The Los Angeles County Funeral Directors Association (of which Forest Lawn is not a member) has filed suit to force Forest Lawn to raise its minimum price to $350.

"In 1959 Forest Lawn handled over 1,000 funerals for less than $350, many of which were as low as $90. We do not believe we should be forced to raise our prices up to the level of these undertakers."

Comments Bill Kersey: "Where do we go from here?" He adds the following information: "Haircut in L.A. $1.30. Was increased to $1.75 recently. This proved a boomerang. State set $1.30 rate after opposition from the public and drop in business."

Woman Without Warmth at 40 Below

Alone in Wilds 20 Years

OTTAWA (CP) — It's B.C. in A.D. in British Columbia.

The RCMP quarterly magazine uses the phrase to describe the discovery of an Indian woman who lived alone in the wilds of the province for 20 years.

The middle-aged woman, known only as the "Cattle Queen," was found living in a pine-bough "home" near Tatla Lake in the desolate Chilcotin district 270 miles north of Vancouver.

The area is policed by the RCMP of Alexis Creek 50 miles west of Williams Lake.

Last April 6, police received word from Tatla Lake, 70 miles northwest, that calls had been heard in the area but ranchers had been unable to locate anyone.

An RCMP constable and a provincial game warden finally found the Cattle Queen in a pine-bough enclosure without floor or roof, that gave her no protection in winter when temperatures drop to 40 below.

NO BLANKETS

"She had no blankets or warm clothing of any kind," the magazine says. "In fact, the only clothing she had at all was what she had on her back — a tattered dress and sweater that wouldn't have covered an eight-year-old child."

Bedding consisted of a few rags piled in one corner of the enclosure. The only food found was meat, a little sugar and lard.

BATTERED RIFLE

The meat consisted of dried moose, 10 rabbits and a grouse. She had shot the moose with a battered .22-calibre rifle.

The magazine says the Cattle Queen is reasonably healthy despite her frugal existence and plans to continue her life as a nomad. However, she now is receiving financial assistance from the federal Indian affairs branch.

The woman took to the woods 20 years ago after being beaten with a logging chain. For some years she had a few head of cattle which she sold by walking 230 miles.

"She had one old horse until two years ago when it starved to death during the winter."

The only implements found in the enclosure were the rifle, two old frying pans, several pots, a knife, fork and spoon and a double-headed axe.

Police said the woman has three married children who live on Indian reserves in the Chilcotin area. However, she has refused to live with anyone and still wants to live by herself away from all contact with civilization.

'Snowman'

He Hid 42 Days

MONTREAL (UPI) — Authorities have called in an interpreter in hopes of unravelling the strange tale of a not-so "abominable snowman" reported to have survived sub-zero temperatures during 42 days in the bush.

The man, who gave his name as Edi Svorc, about 50, was brought here from Cowansville, Que., where he was taken into custody Tuesday.

In the little community of Austin, Que., 25 miles south of Sherbrooke, woodcutters said they had seen a "strange snowman" in the woods during the last month. Then, five residents of the district came upon his trail Tuesday in the woods, tracked him down and talked him into coming out of the woods.

'First Joke of 1960'

Bitter Bennett Calls Gibson Rich Playboy

The fact that former Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson refers to himself as a little logger is the first joke of 1960, Premier Bennett said yesterday.

At his press conference, he called Mr. Gibson a "millionaire yachtsman and a playboy" who had done well in the logging business. "He has picked up some land in Hawaii . . . Pretty good for one of those poor small loggers," the premier said.

The premier was bitter about Mr. Gibson's attack on the government's forest management policies at a convention of truck loggers in Vancouver this week. Mr. Gibson introduced the "money talks" charges which led to conviction of former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers.

Premier Bennett said Mr. Gibson this week complained of two things—forest management and labor . . . "I would be glad to meet Mr. Gibson on these issues," he said.

Mr. Bennett was cautiously optimistic about the new national forestry department announced Thursday.

He said he hopes it will mean more money for management of B.C. forests.

Indians should not lose any treaty rights through an Ottawa decision to give them the federal vote, the premier said.

"We were the first province to give them the vote and now the federal government follows years later," he commented.

No changes are in sight for the basic formula in government assistance to education costs, the premier reported.

The question was raised as result of a statement by the government's financial adviser J. V. Fisher that steps are under way to alleviate school board difficulties in getting construction borrowings.

As far as Premier Bennett knows, the B.C. Power Commission does not plan to build the transmission line from the projected Peace River power development to the Vancouver area.

Opposition Leader Strachan had claimed the Wenner-Gren interests face financial difficulties and that B.C. Hydro may build the $75,000,000 transmission line.

Snow, 'Quakes

Disasters Hit Europe

Flood, Storms

LONDON (UPI)—A blanket of snow and ice lay over Europe yesterday, isolating villages, marooning travellers and taking a heavy toll of human life.

And the forecast is for worse to come. Other disasters—flood and earthquake — also took their toll.

More than 150 deaths from the weather were reported from Norway to Spain since the cold wave set in last Sunday.

Road conditions in the storm-swept British Isles were the worst since the disastrous winter of 1947. Snow drifts six feet deep were reported in Yorkshire and Kent.

The liner Queen Elizabeth could not enter the harbor at Cherbourg, France.

In Italy, hailstones pelted urb Thursday, the resulting flood killed only one person among 11,250 who fled to high ground and safety.

The cold gripping Paris prevented the city from receiving more than one-third of the regular fresh food deliveries.

In Canada, Ontario's third ice storm in three weeks has left a coat of snow over a layer of ice.

In Amsterdam, Holland, where a dike broke in a sub- layer of ice.

Quiet Anniversary

ON Thursday the tenth anniversary of the Columbo Plan came and went without fanfare. Yet 19 nations of the world, including Canada, have been working sincerely for the furtherance of the basic aims of the scheme. That is to help underprivileged countries and to guide them equably along the path towards self-management and improved economic stability. It is a mammoth undertaking, but the first decade has shown that the effort is being made in the right direction. Commenting on the tenth anniversary, Britain's foreign secretary recalled that the idea originated at a Commonwealth foreign ministers' conference in 1950 and developed into the full program known now as the Columbo Plan.

"The Columbo Plan," he continued, "born at this Commonwealth gathering has grown in the 10 years of its existence to a membership of 19 nations. The area contains nearly one-quarter of the world's peoples and, with the rapid rise in population, the problem is immense. The countries working together in the Columbo Plan have not only learned how to help each other but they have also given the whole world a fine example of how such co-operation, both by way of capital aid and technical assistance, can be accomplished. The achievements in the fields of agriculture, engineering, medicine, research and education are impressive and encouraging."

The Columbo Plan concerns the peoples of South and Southeast Asia, and is a continuing effort. The original members of its consultive committee were Australia, Canada, Ceylon, India, New Zealand, Pakistan, Malaya and British Borneo, which together with the United Kingdom put the plan into first operation. They were joined by Cambodia, Laos, South Vietnam and the United States one year later; by Burma and Nepal in 1952; Indonesia in 1953; by Japan, the Philippine Republic and Thailand in 1954; while about two years ago the Federation of Malaya became a full member. Under the scheme technical aid, credits and other forms of practical assistance have been made available to the region concerned.

Canada as an original member has supported the Columbo Plan materially since its inception.

The Trespass

EVEN if some aldermen dissented there can be small objection to the City trying to be recompensed for the irregular use of its S. J. Willis School property by the school board. The City, like other municipalities in a "debt-free" province, is hard pressed for money and needs every cent it can lay hands on. It needs this much more than the school board, in a sense, for unlike the latter it has the job of raising the means to keep itself going.

It was a belated discovery of course, that the Willis school is using property that doesn't belong to it and for which it paid nothing. If squatter's rights have validity, a 10-year tenure, even if never legally adjusted, rather weakens the claim of trespassing. Since civic officials were lax about the land title when issuing the required building permits and obviously must have watched the erection of the school, it might be argued that silence indicated consent.

However, doubtless the law is the law and the City has good legal ground to stand on. The school board should offer no serious rebuttal, not having to worry about providing its own monies and fully aware it has some responsibility for occupying an area without legal transference. As the education minister suggested this is a matter which should be possible of amicable settlement.

For the City an appropriate recompense would mean that it simply gets back some of its own money, since it bears a large proportion of the costs in running the district school board. The settlement would thus have to be shared by the other Greater Victoria municipalities—who if they run true to form are apt to object—and by the provincial government, which can scarcely renege on its commitments towards the capital costs of schools.

Certainly the City should push its claim, and perhaps at the same time it should examine the records to see if any other agency enjoys undue privilege because of oversight in the past.

Public Behind TCA

WHATEVER doubts Trans-Canada Air Lines may have had about public support here for its Victoria-Mainland services, they should all be dispelled by now. The excitement aroused by the apparent possibility of the franchise being transferred to another airline has served one useful purpose: to coalesce popular feeling towards the national operation. Headed by the city council and the Victoria and Sidney Chambers of Commerce, public and semi-public bodies at the south end of the Island have pledged unqualified backing for TCA when the time comes to defend its franchise before the Air Transport Board against the take-over bid entered by Pacific Western Airlines.

The sooner the matter is brought to finality the sooner a campaign can be solidified to persuade the federal government against delaying any longer the extension of the runways at Patricia Bay Airport. From various official statements and hints it is fairly clear that the Dominion government, notwithstanding earlier promises, will not proceed with the project until petitioned to do so by the operating airlines. Public requests apparently carry little or no weight.

Very well, then: the course for Victoria to take once the franchise issue has been settled seems to lead to the doors of the airlines in an attempt to convince them that it would be in their interest as well as that of the capital city to have the airport brought up to full international standards, capable of use as an alternative port for transcontinental and transocean airliners. From the safety aspect alone, experience during the past few days has amply demonstrated the need for that. From the operational and economic angles provision of a Class 1 airport would permit expansion of service in line with demand and necessity.

Interpreting the News

Red China Excluded

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

AN unreality of the forthcoming disarmament talks in Geneva is the fact that a nation with one of the largest armies in the world will not be represented. That nation is Red China.

The United Nations-appointed subcommittee on disarmament will meet on March 15 to consider numerous disarmament proposals, prominent among which will be Premier Khrushchev's demand for total world disarmament in four years.

Communist nations on the committee are Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Romania. Non-Communist are the United States, Canada, Britain, France and Italy.

There is no indication that any, including Russia, can speak for the Red Chinese. But any disarmament agreement to have meaning at all must include them.

Western intelligence at present estimates the strength of the Red Chinese army at 3,500,000 men under arms. Well-placed sources say this figure could be practically doubled almost overnight.

The Red Chinese air force has a total of about 3,000 planes, of which about half are fighters and about 300 are jet bombers.

Their naval strength is negligible, and so far they have no nuclear capabilities except as it might be supplied by Russia. They are, however, believed to have the knowledge and possibly the material to touch off a relatively crude atomic blast. So their atomic possibilities cannot be written off forever.

While Moscow broadcasts have been soft-pedalling boasts of military might in favor of disarmament, Peiping broadcasts from Red China have continued with unabated truculence.

Some of the Red Chinese saber-rattling has been attributed to sensitivity over U.S. refusal to grant them diplomatic recognition; some to a theory that they still are flexing their relatively new military muscles.

In any event, they have served notice before that no summit meeting can be truly a summit without Red Chinese participation.

"Never mind the fine print. Now, over here—"

Fishy Eyes

Lightening The Deeps

(BBC News Letter)

ONE of the many questions on which research is being carried out at the Plymouth Marine Biological Station is how fish live half a mile and more down in the ocean where very little light penetrates. In one of the programs about centres of research, broadcast recently in the BBC's General Overseas Service, Australian broadcaster Colin Wills interviewed two scientists who are working on this subject.

Dr. Denton explained that daylight became dimmer and dimmer, and also more bluish in color, as one went deeper into the sea, because blue light was less absorbed by sea water than other lights which, mixed with it, made up normal daylight. Below half a mile men could no longer see anything at all.

Yet fish living at much greater depths had very large and complicated eyes, which must be presumed to be of use to them, and therefore must differ from human eyes. "The difference is a chemical difference," Dr. Denton said. "Just as the film in a camera contains chemical substances—the pigments which absorb light and are changed by it—so the retina at the back of the eye contains sensitive substances which are changed by light, and it is this chemical change in the pigment which is the first stage in seeing anything.

"A few years ago it was generally thought that all fresh-water fish had purple retinae, and all marine fish had a rosy red-colored retinae. We then found a rather curious exception to this rule, and this was the conger eel. It begins its life in the deep sea, and then migrates to our shores. There it stays for eight to ten years, and finally it returns to the deep sea again. Their retinae are neither purple nor rosy red, but have a fine golden color. This color belongs to a pigment which we christened 'visual gold.' Such a golden pigment would be ideal for absorbing the light which penetrates into the deep sea, and the very best pigment for a deep-sea fish." A subsequent examination of 20 species of deep-sea fish caught in the Bay of Biscay had shown that all possessed the golden pigment, and in very large amounts.

It was the quantity of the pigment, Dr. Denton said, that determined the efficiency with which eyes could make use of the light striking them. The human eye was relatively inefficient in this respect, using only about one-tenth of this light profitably for vision; the rest was wasted. But the eyes of the deep-sea fish generally contained so much visual gold that nine-tenths of the light was absorbed.

Dr. Nicol spoke of another aspect of the subject—the luminosity of the fish themselves which gave light at depths where there was no sunlight at all. It was estimated, he said, that about nine-tenths of all deep-sea fish had light organs and were luminescent.

"Fish which swim about with large head-lights shining continuously probably use them as lamps for illuminating their surroundings and for finding food. Fish such as angler fishes, which have small light bulbs, probably use them as lures for attracting prey Again, fishes and shrimps with batteries of small light organs use them as recognition signals. If the species is a social one, the lights help the members of a school to keep together."

Reports from Ottawa

THERE'S always a special excitement for a reporter on the day Parliament meets. Like Thursday.

First of all, I suppose it's the bustle of activity and color — the Governor-General's procession to Parliament Hill, the troop of Mounties on horses, the Peace Tower bells, the honor guard, the booming guns, the brilliant ceremony in the Senate chamber.

Not many of us become so blase that "the opening" doesn't bring out some vestige of that kids-on-circus-day emotion.

Then there's the greeting of old friends among the returning MPs—men who've been listening to the grass grow and, in some cases, have been conferring with the mighty men of the cabinet. Often they have worthwhile information and opinions to pass along.

And finally there's respect and veneration for this ancient institution of Parliament. We like to think that Parliament represents the finest flowering of man's efforts to perfect machinery for self-government. When Parliament meets, it is the machinery of national self-government slipping into high gear.

For nearly six months the cabinet has been running the country's affairs with no check on or review of its activities by the elected representatives of the people. It goes without saying that the cabinet is not unhappy in this situation. Ministers of the Crown are busy men. They have no reason to relish time being taken from their duties to answer opposition criticism in Parliament. Especially when they believe the criticism is erroneously based, or carping, or conceived for political ends.

But unfortunately for their ulcers, real or potential, the people expect and demand an accounting each year. It's written into the constitution. It is our main safeguard against usurpation of power by an autocratic oligarchy. And this is the chief function of Parliament.

Yes, I know that "Parliament makes the laws." That's what they taught us in school. But one of a green MP's greatest disillusionments is to find that his job here isn't to make laws. It's to obey the party whip, to vote when and how he's told, to make a speech or to keep his mouth shut, to defend everything the government does or says if he's a Tory, or to damn the government with criticism or faint praise if he's in the opposition.

So the House of Commons becomes a political cockpit, with each party vying for the voters' affection. At times it taxes the observer's faith in the parliamentary system, when the political slants are crude and the recognized tender of oratorical exchange is half-truths.

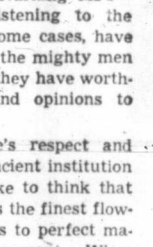
But out of it all, as the weeks of talk stretch into months, the successes and failures of the adminstration are exposed to public view alongside the explanations of the ministers and the caustic comments of the opposition. That is what will be happening soon in the fields of defence, finance, trade, foreign affairs, defence production, agriculture and immigration, to list what likely will be the most controversial areas of debate in the new session.

Then you and I and all of us can make our individual judgments of the quality of our government, of the administration's policies and performances, and of its spending of our tax dollars.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

I WILL now tell you how you will know when you are getting old. It is when you are looking through a snapshot album, that nobody has looked at for 30 years, and you see a picture of yourself with five other guys. And you have forgotten who two of them are.



There you are, the six of you, laughing at the camera. Maybe you are holding up a string of fish among the lot of you. How lean and gawky you look yourself! Did you ever look like that, you say to yourself. And your family merely hoots.

"That's Bob Jenkins," you say, pointing, "and that's Cec Perry, and there's What's-his-name Hall. But who is that, now?"

And across the years two faces smile at you, utter strangers. Yet for a day at least they were your companions.

As you turn the pages of the album there you are with your arm around a girl's shoulder and she has her arm around your waist. A brown-haired girl, a Mona Lisa smile.

"And who's that!" cry your wife and all your granddaughters.

"I think," you say, "I think her name was Elva. Or was it Flo?"

But there, among the derisive cries of your women old and young, you know you are old. For you do not remember her name at all.

An Eye on Crown Companies

(From The Ottawa Journal)

IF, as reported, we are to have more superintendence of Crown companies by committees of Parliament, then a good thing.

There has been altogether too much of a "hands-off" attitude towards Crown companies, certainly too much talk of their being free of "interference by politicians."

Politicians are the people we elect to run the business of this country. If that doesn't mean an eye kept by them on such business of the country as Crown companies, spending public monies and sometimes losing public monies, then our political system is in too great a degree meaningless.

From the Scriptures

Behold now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation.—II Corinthians, 6:2.

Gas and Goo

The March Of Science

By CASSANDRA, from London

SCIENCE is a wonderful thing and we must all be grateful to those devoted research technicians and laboratory workers who, after many, many years of patient and conscientious work, have now made it a perfectly practical proposition to wipe out hundreds of millions of human beings by blast, fire and radio-active sickness that follows a hydrogen bomb explosion.

I now have to report further progress.

Dr. B. C. Saunders, a distinguished lecturer in chemistry, has told of a new formula for efficient death. It is a gas called FEA.

Says Dr. Saunders:

"You could put this in a person's beer or cocoa and he would not know the difference because this gas is odorless, colorless and tasteless. There is a delayed action of 20 minutes and then, after a slight convulsion, the person is dead."

Dr. Saunders added that a post-mortem examination would show no unusual chemicals present in the body.

He continued: "What evidence is there against you? I venture to suggest to you that there is no evidence at all. This, to my mind, is as near the perfect murder as you could get."

Thus, in addition to the most public, the most violent holocaust possible, which is an exploding H-bomb and results in the mass extermination of mankind, we now have perfected silent, secret, stealthy and a very private form of death which can give security and comfort to murderers.

Aaah me — there's progress for you!

The New Religion

I THOUGHT you might like this offering. It comes from Atlanta, Georgia, in the U.S., and is part of a full-page advertisement for a restaurant called The Pickrick.

The Pickrick, which prides itself on doing very well ("Try our home-made pie, over 200,000 pieces served each year"), apparently did a roaring trade at Christmas and they felt that they should show some sign of gratitude to higher sources.

So they printed the following announcement:

"DEAR GOD,

"Thank You for answering our prayers! Thank You for another miracle. According to all facts, figures and statistics and to those who know the restaurant business best, no large restaurant could possibly be successful, located as The Pickrick, in an older residential section with little or no commercial and industrial development.

"Certainly, some said, without alcoholic beverages such a place will not last long.

"Still others bet among themselves that The Pickrick could not last.

"But today we are blessed with a very successful business, thousands of wonderful customers that You have sent our way and stand hopeful that You will use us and our business in the way that will be most acceptable and pleasing to THEE.

"Thanks again, Dear God, for answering our prayers."

Ben Hur

HAVING just seen the film Ben-Hur I feel about as relaxed as if I'd been thrown over a low cliff and caressed with a couple of railway sleepers.

This pitcher has everything.

In its more sentimental and delicate moments, it contents itself with flogged slaves dying of thirst in the desert but soon regains its real vigor and spirit and gets on with the true business of stabbings, stranglings, burnings and drownings, with the Crucifixion thrown in for pensive relief.

But what interested me even more than the visual bloodstained events on the screen was the musical score. It really lives up to the multi-colored visual horrifics that it accompanies.

You get everything played by a massive symphony orchestra ranging from Wise-Men-of-the-East music, Naval-Battle music and Marooned-on-a-Raft music to Dungeon music and Torture music.

But perhaps the best blast of all is the Mom's-got-Leprosy music. I would have loved to have been there when the musical director of this shy, bashful film was working out just what to play for the Leprosy motif.

Anyway, whatever the discussions were on the subject, he suceeded with a magnificent rumble of doom that would have sounded pessimistic even in a charnel house.

Incidentally, this pitcher, by our old friends Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and old Leo the Lion, is terrific pro-Semitic propaganda.

The Aryan Romans take a colossal beating as Ben-Hur, complete with flashing teeth, an American accent and quite a way with the gals, triumphs over all.

A pity we couldn't have got them chariots into Nuremberg before the 1939 war.

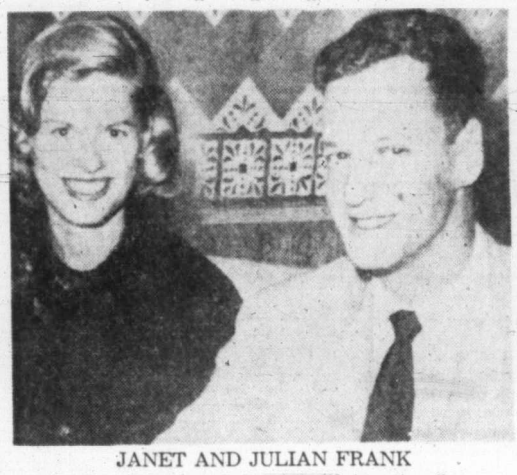
Swindles Suspected

Did Plane Bomb Cheat Law?

'Widow Will Be Rich'

★ ★ ★



JANET AND JULIAN FRANK
". . . I'll never believe the insinuations"

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavily-insured Julian Frank, suspected of killing himself and 33 other airline passengers with a bomb to make his widow the "richest woman in the world," was being investigated for alleged swindles totalling possibly more than $1,000,000, it was disclosed yesterday.

Frank, 32, had insured himself for $887,500 before boarding a National Airlines plane that crashed in North Carolina last week.

At the time of his death, Frank was being investigated in an alleged charity fund drive swindle, in the operation of a "phantom firm" that bilked clients out of large fees and in the alleged embezzlement of $20,000 from a law client.

Frank's blonde widow Janet, attractive former model, insisted her husband died accidentally, saying: "I will never believe the insinuations they are making about him."

If his death is proved to be a suicide, Mrs. Frank would receive no more than $10,000 from the huge insurance policies taken out by her husband in the last nine months.

"If I die in an airplane crash, my wife will be the richest woman in the world," an attorney quoted Frank as saying.

In connection with the alleged embezzlement, Frank was facing possible disbarment. Frank had sued the client for a $13,000 legal fee. The embezzlement charge arose in a counter-suit.

District Attorney Frank Hogan identified Frank's "phantom" firm as J. & P. Factors Inc. He allegedly offered to raise money for hospital fund drives for a 1½ per cent finders fee, then accepted several thousands of dollars in advance and dropped out of sight.

The FBI is investigating charges that the same firm had been involved in mortgage dealings, collecting large fees without completing transactions.

Still another facet of Frank's activities came to light when an attorney said Frank made frequent trips to Las Vegas and possibly had connections with gambling interests.

National Airlines officials said a mysterious stranger with a cultured voice gave the firm the tip about Frank's insurance that started the investigation.

Chicago Sensation

Eight Policemen Jailed as Fences

CHICAGO (UPI) — Flying police squads arrested eight brother officers in their homes yesterday and accused them of being fences for a gang of burglars.

Authorities said the arrests might mark the beginning of one of the greatest scandals in Chicago police history. As many as 40 other officers may be involved.

The raiders found enough loot in seven of the homes to fill four patrol wagons—television sets, radios, drapes, tires, guns, gasoline tanks, cigaret lighters, furniture, batteries and even an outboard motor.

Officials said the eight policemen were implicated by an accused burglar, Richard Morrison, who is awaiting trial and was trying to make a deal for a lighter sentence.

Morrison, they added, charged the policemen "helped him either load or unload the stolen merchandise from several stores he prowled in a period lasting for more than one year."

The eight policemen served together at a suburban station. They ranged from rookies to veterans of almost 20 years' service on the force.

Blood in Car

Biologist's Alibi Cracked—Police

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) —Investigators claimed yesterday that they found bloodstains in Dr. George H. Mickey's car and had wrecked the eminent scientist's story of what he did on the night his attractive protege was clubbed to death.

District attorney J. St. Clair Favrot said he thought the slaying of Dr. Rosamond Margaret McMillan, a 38-year-old biology professor, was premeditated and "we think we know the motive," but refused to elaborate.

Dr. Mickey, 49, an internationally-known expert in the field of the effects of radiation on genetics, was arrested on campus Thursday and jailed on a murder warrant.

Dr. McMillan's skull was cracked by 13 vicious blows from a sharp instrument on a lonely road outside Baton Rouge sometime Saturday night. Her body was found at 6.30 a.m. Sunday.

'Flavor Gems' and Sandpaper'

Trickery in TV Commercials Charged to Four Big Firms

WASHINGTON (AP)— Those drops of moisture you might have seen described as "flavor gems" in U.S. television commercials are nothing more than a sprinkled-on liquid, says the Federal Trade Commission.

"Sandpaper" being shaved in a shaving cream commercial is a piece of plastic to which sand has been applied, the commission says.

The tired-looking ham wrapped in a competing foil looked that way before it was ever wrapped, the FTC adds, and the toothpaste commercial using a cigaret-smoking machine doesn't prove what it claims.

Complaints were filed against these firms: Standard Brands, Blue Bonnet Margarine, Colgate-Palmolive Co., Palmolive Rapid Shave shaving cream, Aluminum Co. of America, new Super Strength Alco Wrap aluminum foil, and Lever Brothers, Pepsodent toothpaste.

Crash Damage Suit Dismissed by Court

An action for damages resulting from an automobile accident was dismissed in B.C. Supreme Court this week by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

Mrs. J. B. Arsenault of Victoria was seeking damages from John F. Moran, 4680 Blenkinsop, for injuries she sustained when a car driven by Mr. Moran, in which she was a passenger, skidded out of control April 27, 1958, at an underpass on Helmcken Road.

"I think there is less evidence of negligence here, not to say gross negligence, than in many other" similar cases, Mr. Justice Macfarlane said.

Jail Sentences Concurrent

A Vancouver man already under sentences of three months from city police court for obtaining lodgings by fraud at the Empress Hotel was given two concurrent sentences in Oak Bay court yesterday.

Kenneth MacManus had pleaded guilty to obtaining lodgings by means of one worthless cheque for $194, and $75 cash by another. Magistrate William Ostler made his three-month jail term for each offence concurrent with the first.

Garden Notes

Fortify Light Soil

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The homeowner who does his gardening on light soil has many advantages over those who must contend with heavy, sticky clay. The light soils are those that contain a high proportion of sand or gravel, making them open in texture, and easy to dig and to cultivate.

Such soils are well aerated and consequently warm up early under the spring sunshine. You can get cracking much earlier in the year than on heavy soil. Drainage is good; no puddles lie on the lawn or in critical sections of the garden and the perennials and winter vegetables tend to come through the winter in much better shape.

As against this, light soils tend to dry out badly in high summer. Water goes right through it, leaving very little to benefit the plants. Soluble minerals, so essential to plant health, are leached out by the winter rain, leaving the ground impoverished.

In the handling and conditioning of such soil, the first objective should be to make it more retentive of moisture for the growing season ahead. After that, we can turn our attention to making it more fertile and replenishing its stock of minerals.

One of the advantages of light sandy or gravelly soil is that it can be worked very soon after rain. But deep cultivation should be avoided in the spring, for the disturbance of digging leaves it more porous than ever. It is much better to confine cultivation to only the top few inches in order to create a seed bed, leaving the lower, winter-consolidated soil intact, with the precious water film enveloping each soil particle unbroken. In fact, all you need do is to scuffle off the weeds with a Dutch hoe and give the surface a vigorous raking.

The essential need of light soil is plenty of organic matter to act as a sponge, retaining both moisture and the soluble plant foods in solution. As in heavy clay soil, the humus formed from decomposition of organic matter causes the light soil particles to "crumb," but in this case each little clump of soil particles becomes a storehouse of essential moisture and nutrients.

As organic matter decays more quickly in a light soil, it is not so important that the material should be fully rotted and, for potatoes and similar plants which require a fairly long season of growth, half-rotted comopost, leafmould or manure can go in at planting time. Save your well-rotted stuff for seed beds and for the quick-growing subjects.

I don't think you ever need worry about adding too much organic material to light soil—the real problem is how to get your hands on enough of the stuff. Compost, manure, rotted leaves, seaweed and lawn mowings are all eligible but should be dug in while still moist. If added dry, they will only sop up some of the soil's meagre moisture reserve, or worse still, remain dry and undecomposed.

The place for this material is not away down deep in the subsoil but distributed as evenly as possible in the top six inches or so. It is here that the active feeding roots are most active and where food and moisture are most needed. The organic litter should therefore be strewn on the surface and chopped in or forked in shallowly.

I have come to be a great believer in mulching on any kind of soil, but on light sandy ground the benefits from mulching must be seen to be believed. Use lawn mowings, sawdust, straw, compost or organic litter of any kind, spreading it between the plants to insulate the soil surface from the sun. Loss of moisture through evaporation is cut down substantially and the roots stay cool and moist.

Formosa Notebook

Prolific Bicycle Is King

(This is the second of a series of special dispatches on the embattled Chinese Nationalist island outpost of Formosa.)

TAIPEI, Formosa (TNS)—The first thing that strikes you on arriving in Formosa will probably be a bicycle.

The population explosion of Asia has nothing on the bicycle boom of Teipei. This city of 800,000 people is plagued with bikes—mostly rattling antiques built by trial and error and held together with wire, prayers and Asian ingenuity.

There are barely 4,500 private cars in this austerity-practising city. But registered bicycles and pedicabs number more than 200,000—nearly a 50-1 ratio.

★ ★ ★

But there are plenty of military vehicles.

Here the jeep is Crown Prince; the prolific bike is king by virtue of overwhelming numbers.

Traffic accidents are numerous, and usually involve pedicabs—bicycle taxis. At an accident, police take the licence number and particulars with the thoroughness and formality of our own police investigating a highway collision.

The government is helping to do away with pedicabs within the next three years. Pedicabbies have a life expectancy of about 32 years.

A five-minute ride in a pedicab costs from seven to 12 cents, depending on the generosity or innocence of the passenger.

It is significant that the cabbies are mostly native-born Formosans; some of the 8,000,000 islanders who were taken over in 1949 by the 2,000,000 Chinese refugees from the mainland.

The Formosans do the menial jobs, while the Chinese do the white collar and brainwork of running the island.

Formosans have little to say in what happens on the island. In the Nationalist government no Formosans occupy senior cabinet posts. And although two-thirds of the provincial government is Formosan, the Chinese make the decisions.

This is a source of unspoken friction and increasing resentment among the islanders.

★ ★ ★

But the Chinese have done a remarkable job of developing Formosa. They have exceeded the hopes of even Chiang Kai-Shek's most enthusiastic and devoted American fans.

Seen from the air the tobacco leaf-shaped island looks like a huge, patched green quilt spread over a rock pile. Absolutely no land is left uncultivated.

Whole mountains are terraced in plots; roadside ditches are growing food; lawns become vegetable gardens; tidal flats are cultivated.

In all Formosa only 360 acres of arable land are unused.

★ ★ ★

The fertilizer industry has become one of the country's most important. The land has almost become merely an anchor to plant things in fertilizer.

But essentially Formosa is an army camp. The instructors are the U.S. military, but in some respects the pupils outdo the teachers.

The Formosan air force is considered exceptional. Chinese pilots are often better and more experienced than their U.S. counterparts. So far the Nationalist air force has triumphed in every clash with more modern Communist MiGs.

And in missile and technical weapon training the Chinese learn faster than the books say they should.

★ ★ ★

A big problem of the Nationalist military is that it is growing old. The hard core Chinese faction average about 35 years. But officially the average age is said to be 24.

Tapei isn't a pretty city. But it is a working one. The whole country is working at peak intensity. It is almost impossible to see anyone in the rural areas sitting down or idle.

★ ★ ★

The Chiang government is publicity super-conscious. Quick witted, over-courteous government information officers can hardly wait to "help" you.

It was rather disquieting feeling like some orchid protected by cellophane wrapping.

Though you can say "no thanks" the visitor is encouraged to see what the Nationalists want you to see; it is made easy to be a sponge for Chiangese views, and a customer for their salesmanship.

'HMS Pinafore' Hit

Pea-Picker Skipper

NEW YORK (UPI) — The credo of the song-and-dance man, 'always leave 'em wanting more," was practiced Wednesday night when Tennessee Ernie Ford presented his entertaining condensation of "HMS Pinafore."

Twelve bright numbers from the 1878 Gilbert and Sullivan operetta were chopped up, packed tightly and crammed aboard "Pinafore" during the half-hour NBC-TV colorcast. It seemed as if such familiar pleasant ditties as "I Am the Captain of the Pinafore," "Buttercup," and "We Sail the Ocean Blue,' would just start to roll when they had to end. And that noble skipper, pea-picker Ernie Ford, paddled the foam-specked plot along with his usual back-porch badinage.

Speaking of the snobbery rampant in 19th century England, Ford said, "There were no holes in the fence for a rooster to get into the wrong henhouse." Referring to a viceroy, he quipped, "That's a thinking woman's husband." Of a social butterfly, this comment: "His teabag is never dry." Referring to Capt. Corcoran's sinecure: "He oughta be happier'n a woodpecker in a furniture factory." And in sizing up treacherous Dick Deadeye, Ernie said, "There's a flour ball in the gravy."

While some Gilbert and Sullivan purists might consider Ford the flour ball in the cultural gravy, I felt Ford's charming ripostes added sparkle to the production and were not disrespectful to the G-and-S operetta. In fact, despite the harsh editing made necessary by the time limitation, the entire production remained faithful to the "Pinafore" spirit.

Ford, as Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, KCB, conveyed a solid grasp of the stuffy role and brought out its humor. His chorus, the Top Twenty, also earned more glory for itself. The talented soloists, Donna Cooke, Chet Fisher, Richard Wessler, Susan Lovell and Ken Harp, gave attractive, professional performances. And the show's success also is due to the colorful costumes and the sturdy ship set. It may have ben a short Pinafore, but it was well-designed and pleasing to eye and ear.

Swindles Suspected

Did Plane Bomb Cheat Law?

★ ★ ★

JANET AND JULIAN FRANK
"... I'll never believe the insinuations"

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavily-insured Julian Frank, suspected of killing himself and 33 other airline passengers with a bomb to make his widow the "richest woman in the world," was being investigated for alleged swindles totalling possibly more than $1,000,000, it was disclosed yesterday.

Frank, 32, had insured himself for $887,500 before boarding a National Airlines plane that crashed in North Carolina last week.

At the time of his death, Frank was being investigated in an alleged charity fund drive swindle, in the operation of a "phantom firm" that bilked clients out of large fees and in the alleged embezzlement of $20,000 from a law client.

Frank's blonde widow Janet, attractive former model, insisted her husband died accidentally, saying: "I will never believe the insinuations they are making about him."

If his death is proved to be a suicide, Mrs. Frank would receive no more than $10,000 from the huge insurance policies taken out by her husband in the last nine months.

"If I die in an airplane crash, my wife will be the richest woman in the world," an attorney quoted Frank as saying.

In connection with the alleged embezzlement, Frank was facing possible disbarment. Frank had sued the client for a $13,000 legal fee. The embezzlement charge arose in a counter-suit.

District Attorney Frank Hogan identified Frank's "phantom" firm as J. & P. Factors Inc. He allegedly offered to raise money for hospital fund drives for a 1½ per cent finders fee, then accepted several thousands of dollars in advance and dropped out of sight.

'Slippery Hill' Victim

Glare Ice Blamed As Truck Flips

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — Ice has claimed another truck on "Slippery Hill"—a stretch of the Trans-Canada Highway between Old Victoria Road and Kilamalu Road.

It was almost at the same spot where a truck went out of control and crashed a week ago, injuring the driver.

This time it was a Cowichan Creamery Co-Operative Association truck loaded with five tons of dairy feed. The truck skidded eight miles south of Duncan and slammed into a bank, then turned over.

An estimated $600 damage was done to the truck.

At least half the load of feed was damaged by water and leaking gas. The truck had to be towed away.

The driver, Roy Courchene of Hillbank Road, Cowichan Station, was taken to King's Daughters' Hospital by police and treated for cuts on the face.

All the serious motor vehicle accidents between Duncan and the Malahat since winter set in, have been on this stretch of road.

It slopes gently to the south for about two or three miles. Police said it seems to be one of the first sections of the highway to develop "glare ice."

Sidney Seeks More Details On Airport

Sidney Chamber of Commerce members are dissatisfied with Transport Minister Hees reasons for delays in the development of Patricia Bay airport.

The minister said in a letter read at the chamber's meeting this week the present airport runways are considered adequate for present air traffic.

Mr. Hees said his department is watching air traffic at Patricia Bay and will provide further facilities when the need arises.

He added that money for a new terminal building, cut from last year's budget, will be included in departmental estimates for 1960-61.

The chamber decided to write another letter asking the minister to give more specific reasons for his decisions.

Gordon Hulme, president of the chamber, said last night, the group will continue to press for development of the airport.

Tofino Road 'Hazardous'

'Refugees' Welcome

NANAIMO—Civil defence co-ordinator for Nanaimo, Dawson Gordon, and the local civil defence organization is planning to make Nanaimo a reception centre.

In case of a national emergency, up to 100,000 persons evacuated from Victoria and the Lower Mainland could be accommodated in the city under the new plan.

UCLUELET — Tofino-Ucluelet school district has appealed to education and highways departments to eliminate the "hazardous condition" of the Tofino-Ucluelet road, which has resulted in a halt to school bus runs along the 30-mile route.

Representatives from both centres have urged Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi to dispatch two graders to start improving the road from each end.

Ucluelet-Tofino Transportation Co., contract-holders for a 55-passenger school bus in service over the route, had requested to withdraw the service because of the condition of the road.

G. R. Hurley, school board secretary-treasurer, said the delegation that met Mr. Gaglardi found that the minister had no knowledge of the conditions.

Winnipeg Revival Just in Time To Help Cougars' Struggle

Victoria Cougars, still uncertain that they will soon grab the runner-up spot and far from conceding they still can't catch the leading Vancouver Canucks, are far from unhappy at the moment that Winnipeg Warriors are showing signs of revival.

Warriors have it in their power to make a playoff spot easy for the Cougars and thereby allow the Victoria club to concentrate on the two clubs ahead. Still too far out of the playoff picture to be any immediate threat, the Warriors can keep the Cougars from fretting too much about the pursuing Edmonton Flyers and Calgary Stampeders.

'Cat' Stops Canucks, 4-3

VANCOUVER — Spokane Comets may not be going anywhere in the Western Hockey League this season but as long as Emile Francis stays healthy none of the better-placed clubs can take them for granted.

The veteran goalkeeper was at his best Friday night, kicking out 45 shots, 23 of them in the last period, as the Comets tripped the leading Canucks, 4-3, in one of the season's most exciting games.

It was only the third time in 20 games that the Canucks had lost on home ice, only the sixth time in 26 games that the Comets have won away from home.

Francis was positively brilliant in the third period after two quick goals by rightwinger Al Johnson had given Spokane a 4-2 lead. The little veteran was practically the whole show in the last 15 minutes and while he was forced to concede one goal, Canucks just couldn't get the equalizer past him.

SEEMED SIMPLE

Canucks, who had won, 7-2, last time Comets were here, seemed headed for another easy two points when Ralph Keller and Les Colwill gave them a 2-0 lead.

But Ching Johnson, with his own rebound, and Bev Bell, on a play set up by Ed Stankiewicz, had Comets even before the end of the second period.

Al Johnson and Francis took it from there. Johnson got his 21st goal on a break while Canucks played shorthanded, clicked again just over three minutes later by grabbing the puck from a scramble and whipping it past Hank Bassen before the Vancouver goalkeeper could cover up.

After that, it was the Canucks vs. Francis, and Francis won.

Winnipeg has nine games left with Calgary and eight left with Edmonton and the recent resurgence of the Manitoba club is a promising item.

Warriors looked sharp indeed last night as they overwhelmed the injury-riddled Stampeders, 10-4. It was the second straight win for the Manitobans, who knocked off the Flyers, 3-2, in their previous start.

Stampeders, who played last night without two of their veteran stars, Jack McLeod and Sid Finney, have now lost four of their last five and are nine points behind the Cougars and now have only three games in hand.

Other Prairie action in the Western Hockey League last night saw the Flyers move within a point of the Cougars by edging past Seattle Totems, handicapped by the loss of goalkeeper Bev Bentley, 6-5.

Seattle's loss left the Cougars only four points out of second place with two games in hand on the Sound City's defending champions.

Seven goals in the second period made it a romp for the Warriors who had the edge taken off their success by a second-period injury to Ray Brunel. The centre, who leads his club in scoring, suffered a badly-bruised knee and it is believed he will miss at least a few games.

LEADS ATTACK

Stamps took a 2-1 lead in the first period, then were snowed under in the middle 20 minutes as rookie Norm Waslawski led an all-out Winnipeg attack which permitted Flyers only two shots on the Winnipeg goal.

Waslawcki, who started the season with a flurry of goals and then cooled off, got his 13th, 14th and 15th and added an assist. Paul Masnick, who hasn't been finding the net too regularly, and Barrie Ross chipped in with two goals apiece.

At Edmonton, Bentley pulled a back muscle making a stop after five minutes of play and action was held up for 40 minutes as a search was made for a replacement. Reg Turner, who tends the nets for an Edmonton army club, finally took over from Bentley and resultant events proved that the loss of Bentley probably cost Totems the points.

LONG SHOT

Flyers managed to take 4-1 and 5-2 leads against the shaky Turner but the Totems, paced by Bill MacFarland's goal and two assists, pulled even in the first minute of the third period. But Pete Goegan got the winner, his second goal of the game, when he drilled a long slap-shot past Turner.

The first period was the longest of the season here. After the delay in getting Turner into the nets, play was held up for another 15 minutes when Seattle defenceman Les Hunt and Edmonton forward Forbes Kennedy got into a tussle, which started again in the penalty box, and didn't end until police intervened.

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

Two men left the restaurant together, parted after a word or so outside, and one returned to take a seat with two others dawdling over their luncheon coffee. He was a pleasant man, cheerfully friendly. Something in his demeanor suggested inward amusement.

"That fellow I went out with just now," he said, "he's my betting partner. We haven't lost yet."

This was no beat-up horse player talking. He was handsomely and quietly dressed, impeccably scrubbed and barbered, obviously accustomed to moving in circles where the martinis are powder-dry, bitter-cold, and not cheap.

"This pal of mine," he said, "is a Madison Avenue guy, but not the standard model. He's as steady as anybody you ever met, a conservative, thoughtful, hard-working. A real solid citizen, lives up in Connecticut with his wife and their seven kids, pays his taxes, catches the same train every morning.

"I like to flirt around with the horses and I have for years. Nothing serious, just a little light action for the fun of it. The other day my friend and I were at lunch and I was checking over my slip. I had $14 going at Tropical and Santa Anita, with a couple more 'if' bets.

"'I'll take half,' my friend said.

So Endeth First Lesson

"Just like that—'I'll take half.' What could I say? He was in, of course.

"Next morning at breakfast he got the paper and gathered the whole family, his wife and the seven kids. 'Now,' he said, 'I'm going to teach you a lesson about gambling and I don't want any of you to forget it.' He told them about the seven bets and explained what the 'if' bets meant—you know, two dollars on Triple Note in the eighth, if coming ten dollars back on Lucky Again in the ninth. If Triple Note doesn't win, there's no play on Lucky Again.

"'Now watch,' he said, and they checked the results together. For our $14, we had won $250 each. He was pretty thoughtful going off to catch his train.

"That night he came home and showed the kids the $250 in bills. 'Now for the important part of the lesson,' he said; 'I'm putting this money here in this cookie jar, and every day I'm going to bet a little of it. It's a lot of money, isn't it? Well, we'll just watch and see how soon it's all gone.'

"Since then I've been doing the handicapping and we've been splitting the action. Second time around we made $95 each. The next days it was $75. The fourth day, yesterday, we won again but only $3 each that time. Did you happen to notice my friend when he walked past here a few minutes ago?

He Can't Back Out

"He's got $423 in that cookie jar. He can't back out and he's afraid to go on. When he warns the kids that they're going to be sorry if they don't do their homework, they snicker. His wife is hitting the cigar store in their village every afternoon—and she doesn't smoke."

The man fished a slip from his pocket. "Here's our play for this afternoon," he said. The slip read thus:

"D. D., Trop.—Homesteader-Scott; 1st Trop.—Homesteader, 2-0-0; 2nd Trop.—Scott, 2-0-0; 3rd Trop.—Miss Chicago, 2-0-0; 4th Trop.—Top Hat, 2-0-0; 5th Trop.—Legal Larceny, 2-0-0. 2nd S. A.—Jimmie Me Boy, 2-0-0, if, 10 win, Old Grind, 3rd S. A."

"Do you mind if I copy this?" one of the others at the table said. "I've simply got to get the next chapter of the story."

"Go ahead," the man said.

That afternoon Homesteader won the first at Tropical and paid $10.72 for $2, Scott finished eighth in the second, killing the daily double. Miss Chicago was tenth in the third—"stopped to a walk," the chart reported; Top Hot got beat a neck in the fourth and Legal Larceny was sixth in the fifth.

At Santa Anita, Jimmie Me Boy was nowhere, so the $10 "if" bet on Old Grind didn't go. Anyhow, Old Grind was scratched. The partners invested $14, got $10.70 back for a loss of $3.30 or $1.65 each.

There's only $421.35 in the cookie jar now. Father knows best.

Island Curling Final Today

Marshall Rink Wins Playoff

By JIM TANG

It took a long time but the lineup for the Vancouver Island zone curling finals was finally completed last night when Larry Marshall outscored Steve Hayhurst, 11-9, in another of the many playoff games the competition has had.

Marshall thus won the third South Island berth in the six-rink finals, which get under way this morning at the Alberni Valley Curling Club. It took him 16 games from the time he entered the competition at the club level and it was his fourth "must" victory.

He was hanging on the brink of elimination at Duncan Thursday night when he edged Lowell Berkey of Duncan to set up a three-rink playoff for the third South Island spot.

Marshall then drew the bye in the special playoff and left for home while Berkey and Hayhurst battled it out at Duncan early Friday morning. Hayhurst won, 11-5, with two four-enders killing the Duncan skip's chances.

Last night, Hayhurst seemed to be the skip headed for Alberni as he grabbed a 4-1 lead on the first three ends. But Marshall's rink settled down, pulled even with three on the fourth, tied it again at 5-5 on the sixth, went ahead for the first time on the eighth end and broke it open with three on the 10th for a 10-7 lead.

Hayhurst got two back on the 11th but couldn't get the tying rock on the 12th. Trying to push back Marshall's shot rock, which was in the four-foot ring, about six inches, Hayhurst barely nudged it back and Marshall didn't have to shoot his last rock.

Marshall joined clubmate Gar Taylor and Glen Harper of Duncan as South Island finalists. Don MacRae and Gene Koster of Nanaimo and Harry Stirzaker of Port Alberni represent the North Island in the round-robin final to be completed by Sunday night, which will decided which rink will carry on to the B.C. final, at Kelowna, Feb. 8-14.

Lineups:

Gar Taylor, skip; Ralph Schmidt, vice-skip; Ken Sturrock, second; Laurie Perlette, lead.

Larry Marshall, skip; Jim Wright, vice-skip; Bud Taylor, second; Dick Fisher, lead.

Glen Harper, skip; Harvey Hodge, vice-skip; Fred Duncan, second; Vern Gaspick, lead.

D-n MacRae, skip; Doug Neff, vice-skip; Art Quinney, second; Gerry Lindsay, lead.

Gene Koster, skip; Doug Sutherland, vice-skip; Duncan Ross, second; Harry Whittam, lead.

Harry Stirzaker, skip; Harry Spottiswood, vice-skip; Dave Osborne, second; Gordon Campbell, lead.

Oak Bay and Mount View Rally for Cage Victories

An Inter-High School Basketball League doubleheader at Oak Bay last night produced the best games of the season as first-place Oak Bay shaded Belmont 30-24 and Mount View rallied to down Royal Oak 34-30 in overtime.

Oak Bay's win was the school's seventh straight and set the stage for tonight's meeting with arch-rival and defending champion Victoria High Totems. The teams meet at 8:15 p.m. for the first time this season at Oak Bay in a game that could eventually decide first place.

A capacity crowd of 650 watched the games at Oak Bay Friday night and another large crowd is expected tonight.

The preliminary saw Mount View climb to fourth place and even its record at 3-3. Dave Collett led Mount View with 14 points while Jim Cunningham topped Royal Oak with 19.

Mount View rallied to gain a 28-28 tie after regulation time. Four points by Terry Kotchems and two by Bob Morrison won it in the overtime.

Oak Bay also came from behind to down Belmont and drop the losers to third place behind Victoria High Totems.

Oak Bay, led by forward Barry Entwhistle and Mike Cranston, outscored Belmont 12-4 in the final quarter. Entwhistle had 11 points, six in the final quarter, while Cranston had eight and John Fraser six.

Bill Spotswood led Belmont with 12 points.

Another Friday game saw Victoria High trounce St. Louis College 52-28 to take over second place.

Twyman Sets Mark, 59 Points

Jack Twyman set a Cincinnati Garden scoring mark of 59 points Friday night in leading Cincinnati Royals to a 122-118 National Basketball Association win over Minneapolis Lakers.

Top scorer for Minneapolis was Elgin Baylor with 43 points.

Meanwhile, St. Louis Hawks rallied from a 10-point deficit with 2½ minutes remaining to force overtime and go on to edge Syracuse Nationals 141-140.

Other game saw Boston Celtics snap Philadelphia's 10-game-winning streak, handing Warriors a 124-112 loss despite 44 points by Chamberlain.

Cougars, Trail Deadlock 2-2

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Victoria Cougars of the professional Western Hockey League and Trail Smoke Eaters of the amateur Western International League battled to 2-2 tie in an exhibition hockey game here before 1,679 fans. Cougars play Spokane Comets in Spokane tonight.

Both clubs counted their goals in the middle period, Trail holding a 2-0 edge at one point. The first and last periods were scoreless.

Pinoke McIntyre, picked up from Rossland Warriors of the WIHL for the game and top scorer in the WIHL, counted both Smoke Eater tallies.

Gordie Wilson and Don Blackburn replied for Cougars, who outshot Trail 34-31 in the game and took the only penalty handed out in the contest.

Playing-coach Bobby Kromm of the WIHL league-leaders and McIntyre combined to open the scoring at 2.51 in the second. The diminutive McIntyre tipped Kromm's goal-mouth pass by a sprawling Marcel Pelletier in the Victoria goal.

Minutes later McIntyre deflected a second shot by Pelletier, tipping in a long screen drive from the blue line fired by George Ferguson, another reinforcement from Rossland for the game.

Trail stormed to the attack and pinned Cougars, who hold down third place in the WHL, into their own end. However, the ganging attack backfired as Wilson broke free and beat goalie Seth Martin from close in at 12.03.

Blackburn evened the score a minute later when he faked a pass to Wilson and rifled a shot into the Trail goal.

It was the second meeting of the teams here this season. Cougars scored a narrow 7-5 victory here last Dec. 3.

Army Quintet Defeats Alberni

ALBERNI (CP)—A United States army team from Fort Lewis, Wash., defeated Alberni Athletics 98-84 Friday night in an exhibition basketball game here.

The Fort Lewis squad grabbed an early lead and held it until the third quarter when Alberni tied it 68-68. Fort Lewis untracked a successful attack in the final quarter to win going away.

Garth Wilson, a six-foot five-inch centre with Fort Lewis, scored 24 points, most on deadly hook shots and tip-ins.

Doug Brinham scored 22 points for Alberni, 16 in the second half.

Rebound ace and defensive standout for the night was Bill Long who killed numerous Alberni thrusts. He also chipped in with 19 points, 13 in the last half.

Fort Lewis: Long 19, Pfiefer 8, Taylor 12, Wilson 24, Kaiser 23, Myers 3, Hanson 9. Total 98.

Alberni: Brown 16, Brinham 22, Radies 6, Williamson 16, Panton 10, Grisdale 10, Mitchell 2, Andrews 2, Gailloux. Total 84.

Vikings Lose In Alberni

ALBERNI—Victoria College Vikings were unimpressive Friday night in losing a 46-38 exhibition basketball decision to Alberni senior "B" team.

Vikings held Alberni to a 20-20 half-time tie but wilted badly in the final half.

Vikings continue to Courtenay for a game tonight against Courtenay High School.

For Winter Games

Cast of Thousands

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — This 1960 Winter Olympics family is a whopper —7,350 men and women at latest estimate.

Managing director H. D. Thoreau's figures included 300 members of his staff, 600 soldiers, sailors, marines and armen, 700 volunteers, 700 newspaper, radio and television people, and of course, the 900 athletes plus their 200 managers, trainers and team officials.

Then there are 1,400 high school musicians who will perform in Feb. 18 opening day ceremonies along with a massed California-Nevada high school chorus of 2,400.

The "family" also includes such people as forecasters in the U.S. weather bureau station here. They're having a field day now predicting snow and more snow.

Utilities such as telephone, telegraph and power provide 150 additional people.

Organizing committee employees include directors of the 28 skiing-skating events down to the dishwashers.

The military men work on the mountains and in the valley, packing the courses, operating communication equipment and keeping the roads cleared of snow.

Volunteers will police the courses, help run the events, man the first aid stations and even entertain the athletes.

Not counted in Thoreau's family are 600 California high school runners who, going one mile each, will bring the Olympic torch from the Los Angeles Coliseum, site of the 1932 summer Games.

CBS to Televise Olympic Highlights

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. — Sports fans will have the opportunity to view 13 of the 77 hours of action scheduled during the VIII Olympic Winter Games here Feb. 18-28, according to the Columbia Broadcasting System (channels 7 and 12).

CBS News has purchased exclusive telecasting rights to the international event.

Week-night coverage will consist primarily of 15-minute showings of the day's activities. Programs ranging from one to three hours are scheduled on the two weekends within the schedule.

The opening ceremonies, an hour and 45-minute pageant under the direction of film producer Walt Disney, will be condensed into a 30-minute presentation.

The longest program, a three-hour presentation, will be held the last day and will feature the final hockey game of the tournament.

SENIOR PROJECT

VICTORIA (CP) — Glen Hamilton, director of the Silver Threads Service here, has called for construction of a recreation centre for use by senior citizens, along the lines of the YMCA.

Comeback?

Seriously considering a comeback for the 1960 Olympics is television actor Bob Mathias, United States Olympic decathlon champion of 1948. Mathias feels he may be able to prevent the Russians from winning their first decathlon title.

Lions, Chargers May Tangle Over Iowa End's Contract(s)

End Don Norton of Iowa has been signed by B.C. Lions but the Western Inter-Provincial Football Union team will have to confer with Los Angeles Chargers of the new American League before the deal is complete.

Head coach Wayne Robinson announced Lions' signing of Norton but also said the six-foot, two-inch player has also signed a contract with the Chargers.

B.C. and Los Angeles will exchange photostatic copies of their contracts with Norton to decide who has legal precedence. Norton, who claims he did not sign an actual contract with the Chargers, will know his status within a few days.

Lions, who will take 26 import players to summer training camp, also have a "good chance" of signing Iowa halfback Bob Jeter.

West Pro Gridders 3½-Point Favorites

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Surprisingly, coach Red Hickey doesn't mind that his western division team is favored by 3½ points in the pro bowl football game Sunday. (Channel 5, 1 p.m., PST.)

To make a radical departure from the coach's pessimistic tradition, he adds: "We love to be the favorite in any game. The fellows who make the odds know what they're doing. I hope they're right again this time."

Asked for his analysis of the game, he said: "The pro bowl is always a passing duel. The team that gives its passer the better protection will win."

The San Francisco '49er coach, affiliated as a player and coach with Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, also noted he will have another advantage.

KNOWS OTHER TEAM

"I am well acquainted with the personnel of the other club. Half of them came from the Rams."

The East squad is sprinkled with Ram castoffs who have made good with other teams, notably quarterback Norm Van Brocklin, tackles Frank Fuller and Ken Panfil, defensive end Andy Robustelli, halfback Jimmy Orr and defensive halfback Dean Derby.

East coach Buck Shaw of Philadelphia Eagles says he plans to loosen up the West defence with passes by Van Brocklin and Bobby Lane and then shoot fullback Jimmy Brown of Cleveland Browns up the middle.

The winners get $800 apiece, the losers $200 less.

Alf Did Right Thing Soccer Board Rules

LONDON (AP) — The disciplinary committee of the English Football Association ruled Friday that referee Alf Sturgeon did the right thing when he sent all 22 players off the field and declared a soccer game abandoned.

Sturgeon, a London traffic cop, explained why he took this drastic step in a Southern League game between Dartford and and Gravesend, Dec. 26.

"When one player was socked in the stomach by another player after a lot of rough play, I thought 'that's enough' and off they went."

Good Score, Average Drops

By JIM TAYLOR

Things are getting pretty tough when you bowl over 600 and still lose ground in the league averages, but it happened this week in Gibson's senior tenpin league.

Roy Begg, who has been in a three-way fight for high average with Jim Mills and Sheldon Nipp, checked in with a highly respectable 627 (202, 244) series and figured on gaining a few pins.

Instead, he dropped a little further back as Nipp rolled 635 (232, 215) and Mills bowled 632 (207, 200, 225). As matters now stand, Mills still leads with a 192 average, one pin better than Nipp and two better than Begg.

It proved an exceptionally fine week for tenpin bowlers at both Gibson's and Strathcona Bowling Alley.

Roy Bridger was top man in Greater Victoria with a 673 series, including games of 244 and 233, in the Commercial League at Gibson's.

Other high scorers on those alleys included Don Shaw, 636 (210, 245); Wilf Smith, 617 (203, 221); Bill Oakley, 598; Len Parsons, 589 (226, 207); Bill Holness, 587; Herb Chandler, 581 (235); Molly Mapes, 580 (209); Ron Wilson, 574; Charlie Cowie, 569 (225); Gordie Bamford, 566 (221); Gil Wong, 556; Jim Mills, 553 (201), and Roy Bussey, 548 (206).

Ann Goodman led the women's major league with 501, and Wally McKay, 556; Al Murray, 524 (216, 212), and Ted Penston, 514 (212) were tops in the junior tenpin league.

At Strathcona, Charlie Cowie rolled 626 (226, 217) for top honors on those lanes. He was followed by Herb Chandler, 595 (214, 202); Sheldon Nipp, 591 (240, 216); P. Schultz, 589 (226); J. Richards, 565 (212); Vince Wheatley, 552 (200); Rocky Maysmith, 545; D. Shubrook, 544 (212); George Brown, 543 (214), and Art Manson, 540.

Annual city handicap tenpin tournament, sponsored by the Victoria Branch of the Women's International Bowling Congress, will be held at Gibson's Bowladrome, with the team event set for Feb. 21 and singles and doubles scheduled Feb. 28.

Shifts will roll at 12.45, 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. both days. Scratch will be 150 with a 60 per cent handicap and a limit of 30 pins per game. Further information may be obtained from Dot Bennett, EV 2-7467, or Peggy Trickett at Gibson's.

* * *

Harry Smith rolled 855 (322, 308) to lead fivepin bowlers at Capital City Bowling Alleys, followed by Myrtle Martin with 822. Fourteen-year-old Gary Kelly had 799 (303), Seto Ho had 786, and D. Leonard rolled 756.

High fivepinner at Esquimalt Bowladrome was Gary Roskamp, with an 845 (312) series. He was followed by Bob McLeod, 843 (304); Jack Ready, 828; Alec Kirker, 769 (316); Phil Young, 758 (326); Frank Morgan, 757; Ted Lunt, 751; Andy Foley, 740; Bill Kivol, 723 (303), and Dot Peaseland, who had a 321 single.

At Gibson's, Cy Wallis bowled 877 (319, 311), the high fivepin series for the week. Jack Logie, 786 (339); Roy Jago, 875 (359); Gordie Ball, 785; Keith Todd, 776 (338); Hazel Piper, 771; Don Corbett, 759; Herb Hunt, 759 and 725; Dave Bendall, 745; Don Jenkins, 741, and Ed McLure, 733, were the other top bowlers on those lanes.

10TH FRAME: Rumor has it that the oft-rumored automatic fivepin setters at Gibson's Bowladrome are coming within the next few months. Although they have been reported "on the way" for about two years now, chances appear fairly good that this time they really are due . . . Next high school fivepin tournament is set at Gibson's Jan. 20, with the February tournament scheduled for Capital City . . . Victoria High won the last one with 5,435, followed by Oak Bay, 5,239; Esquimalt, 4,931; St. Louis College, 4,836, and Mount View, 4,765 . . . Double Diamond Bowling Supply Limited, manufacturers of an automatic fivepin setter, plan to introduce fivepins (and their machines) in England . . . In the past year, more than 700 of the machines have been installed in alleys across Canada.

Indians Collapse Before Aussie Attack

MADRAS, India (Reuters) — Australia took a firm grip on the fourth cricket test here Friday and at the close of play India needed 167 runs with eight wickets left to avoid an innings defeat.

A startling collapse by India saw it lose its last eight first-innings wickets for 38 runs and it was all out for 149.

Richie Benaud finished with five for 43 and Alan Davidson three for 36.

Following on 193 runs behind, India had made 26 for two at the close. Two days remain. India did well before lunch, taking its overnight 46 for one to 108 for the loss of Ramnath Kenny. Wicket keeper Budhi Kunderman was 70 not out at the interval but added only one run afterward before being bowled by Benaud.

When India went in again, Ian Meckiff quickly dismissed Pankaj Roy and Kenny.

The five-match series stands at 1-1 with one game drawn.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (Reuters) — The English national cricket team took three quick Trinidad wickets on the first day of a four-day match Friday after an opening stand of 88 by the hosts.

At the close, Trinidad was 137 for three wickets.

Western Oils Make Gains At Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market, led by Western oils and industrials, moved higher amid the heaviest trading in six months.

Western oils advanced more than a point on index.

Dominion Stores was the best industrial winner with a gain of 1½ at 51¼.

On the losing side Algoma Steel dropped ¾ at 38¾, while Ford Motor of Canada and Consolidated Paper each fell ½ at 166½ and 41½ respectively.

Western oils were higher. Home Oil B went up ⅝ at 11½, and Home Oil A was ahead ⅜ at 12⅛. Canadian Superior Oil, which began trading on the Toronto exchange, was off ⅜ at 11⅝.

Papers Advance

MONTREAL (CP) — Papers showed gains except for Powell River, off ⅛ at 18. Abitibi was up ⅜ at 41⅛, Consolidated Paper ¼ at 41¾, International Paper 1 at 125. St. Lawrence ¼ at 11¼ and Bowater ⅛ at 9¾.

Base metals turned weak during the last hour of trading to finish on a low note. Aluminium was down ⅜ at 32½, Asbestos ¼ at 25¼, International Nickel 1½ at 99½ and Noranda ¾ at 46¼.

In the utilities, Bell gained ⅛ at 43⅛ and Shawnigan was up ¼ at 29⅝ while B.C. Power eased up ⅛ at 36⅜.

Canadian Vickers was up ⅞ at 16⅞.

Upward Drive Fails

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's recovery drive fizzled in its second session as most early gains were erased and the list closed irregular.

The industrial section as a whole wiped out a moderate gain it held by midsession. Rails and utilities held their own.

Stocks of the top four steelmakers declined, U.S. Steel and Republic Steel losing more than a point each. Motors paced the early advance but at the close Chrysler and General Motors were fractional losers. Ford held a gain of 1⅛ while American Motors and Studebaker-Packard were up fractions.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters)—Generally bright conditions prevailed and extensive gains were recorded in virtually all sections.

Sentiment was helped by news of expanding industrial production and by the rally on Wall Street. Dollar stocks were marked up at the opening.

Gilt-edged securities gained. Industrials were higher. Steel and engineering shares were in demand. Electrical issues were also wanted with a rise in Philips Lamps. Motors and aircrafts went ahead with Hawker Siddeley particularly good. Newsprints, textiles and stores all showed useful gains.

Rowing, Higher Learning Passport to Choir Stall

By JACK HUTTON

WINNIPEG (TNS) — Two summers ago a group of Winnipeg choirboys amazed their province by setting out in old navy lifeboats for the upper reaches of Lake Winnipeg.

Choirboys? Crazy, thought many.

The same St. John's Anglican Cathedral group which shattered tradition then is setting a radical new pattern in education for Canada.

Forty-five boys from the district are attending an after-hours school which several unpaid teachers hope may some day become a full-time private school.

The unpaid teaching staff includes a Winnipeg newspaperman, two teachers, a former school board chairman, a TV technician and a carpenter.

The idea — which has never from the first been a practical one in terms of finance—cannot help but remind one of the early Canadian private schools.

The project began about three years ago as an attempt to get more youngsters into the church choir and off the local streets.

Singing in a choir was sissy stuff, of course. So reporter Ted Byfield and a friend, Frank Wiens, set a qualification: only choirboys could join a new rowing club.

The rowing club, which soon had a waiting list, was no easy chore. Two summers in a row the youngsters duplicated the long voyages of early Manitoba pioneers up the Red River.

The next step seemed obvious. Only boys with a certain school standing could remain in both the rowing club and choir. And the parents, before they knew it, had embarked on tuition.

Last March the group borrowed money for a down payment on a large house which sits on the site of the old Red River Academy — a location they hope is prophetic.

Sixteen boys between 12 and 16 live in the house during weekends, studying formal logic and logic applied to English composition, debating and physics, religious studies, drama and Greek.

Two evenings every week 28 boys between 8 and 11 years old attend the school to study conversational German, Latin, poetry and religion.

Canon Quits Sea

Superintendent of Columbia Coast Mission for 13 years, Canon Alan Greene, has retired from the sea. A master mariner, as well as a doctor of divinity, Canon Greene first joined the mission in 1911.

His life with the Mission was devoted to the welfare of loggers, settlers, fishermen and Indians of the B.C. Coast which he visited by boats. He will continue as parish priest to the churches on the Seechelt Peninsula.

Africa Crusade Graham's Last?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Evangeslist Billy Graham, who has personally preached the Christian gospel to more people than any man in history, leaves for Africa Monday on what may be his last extended "crusade."

Graham will spend seven weeks in Africa. He will visit nine countries and preach at public rallies in 16 cities.

He is scheduled to speak before scores of smaller meetings attended by missionaries, native pastors, students, business and civic leaders.

His schedule will enable Graham to take a few days rest between stops — an arrangement his doctors insist upon.

The 41-year-old evangelist was stricken with an eye ailment last year which doctors attributed to exhaustion. He has been warned to ease up on his strenuous schedule.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

Whittier wrote a poem about Maude Muller "reaping a meadow sweet with hay" when a judge's son passed by. He was smitten with love at first sight by the "glad surprise that leaped out from her long-lashed hazel eyes." Caution prevailed, however, and the young man went away.

Whittier concludes sadly:

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are these: it might have been."

Bret Harte, a more realistic and cynical fellow, takes up the story and marries them. Bitter disillusion sets in. She proves a slatternly housekeeper and the young hero, discouraged from a brilliant career, settles down to squalid living. Bret Harte concludes:

"More sad are those we daily see:
It is, but hadn't ought to be."

Having discussed marriage problems with hundred of couples, officiated at hundreds of weddings, dealt with hundreds of broken homes, and read scores of books, as well as attending conferences, I have formed some fundamental opinions on marriage.

Compulsory Counselling

The strongest is that pre-marital counselling should be compulsory. For a couple to get married they should have to present a diploma showing that they had passed examinations in mariage fundamentals. Most civlized places have compulsory examinations for a licence to drive a car, yet far more frequent and fatal are the crashes in marriage. Not one in four marriages can be rated successful. Apart from the divorces and separations there are at least 20 per cent merely "making the best of it." Then add the vast number of "tired friendships." This is the basic problem of juvenile delinquency, and few schools, churches, or communities are doing anything about it.

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. More effort should be given to solving problems before marriage instead of trying to patch up broken marriages. Primary emphasis should be laid on preventive medicine. Churches and social organizations should have more pre-marital counselling. Most couples just drift into marriage thinking that basic problems such as religion, children, tastes in culture, friends and money can be settled afterward. They can't.

Anti-Semitism Topic Of Public Lecture

Anti-Semitism will be the subject of a special public lecture by Rev. R. E. S. Toms at the 7.30 p.m. Sunday service at the Evangelistic Temple, 2303 Blanshard.

"I have studied the subject for 25 years," Mr. Toms said, "and some years ago I wrote a brochure on it."

He will deal with the question in three parts—its cause and cure; the worst purge for the Jews is on the way; and where it will begin and how it will end.

Rev. Lorne I. Nadigar, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, tomorrow will begin a week-long series of discussions at the Theological Conference in Berkeley, Calif.

Running Church Costs Money

Fill Up the Plate!

By AUBREY WICE

Running a church today is big business. The nickel, dime and quarter days are past (although these coins still turn up in loose collection.)

But, the spiritual welfare of the people is becoming increasingly costly, and church budgets have climbed. To offset this, most churches are facing their people with the challenge in a very forthright manner. The result is that great hordes of church people have become door knockers.

Under the banner of stewardship, their mission is to stir the pot of interest. Finding Sunday school teachers, men and women for group activity, children for the classes, and people for the pews. And, of course, money.

Fuel bills are up, so are wages, car expenses, insurance, repair bills, contributions to missions, and church extension. Every week, new churches are opening.

Naturally, the ideal method is to have members pledge a set amount, a year in advance. This way, the church can budget for its expenses and expect to have the money coming in regularly, week by week.

Some churches have used professional fund raising companies. Others, in a community, band together, forgetting denominational lines. They pool resources and manpower and stir up tremendous enthusiasm and have been producing good results.

Naturally, there has to be some sort of a yardstick, and that's why there is so much talk these days of the old Biblical principle of the tithe. This is 10 per cent. Whether it is 10 per cent of a person's gross or net income, has stirred up some pretty frothy conversations.

However, the people who tithe 10 per cent in major Christian denominations are in the minority.

The average givings per member per year in the United Church of Canada is $53.32. The Anglican figure is $42.63. The amount for the Presbyterian Church in Canada is $57.56. Average for members of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec is $103.91. For the Fellowship of Evangelical Baptist Churches, $131.02.

While a 10 per cent tithe is recognized as the ideal, it is usually suggested in group campaigns that five per cent be the starting point. Some clergymen even regard this as a "right" amount, with today's high cost of living. One minister who recently directed a community campaign told me, "a lot are still a long way from five per cent."

Speaks Sunday

Christian Science teacher Sylvia N. Poling of Phoenix, Ariz., will speak tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the Odeon Theatre under the auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist. Subject of the free public lecture will be "Christian Science Reveals the Door to Life More Abundant."

Dog Sold For $5,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — A two-year-old black Labrador retriever has been sold for $5,000 by North Vancouver dog breeder Jack Smyth.

The price for the dog, Country Club's Jet Pilot, is the second highest ever paid for a British Columbia bred and trained hunting dog and the most ever paid for a two-year-old. Highest-priced field trial dog, Oak Creek's Van Cleve, also owned by Mr. Smyth, sold for $5,500 in 1952.

Drug Prices Probed

Ottawa Roundup

OTTAWA (CP) — Policies of certain drug manufacturing companies in selling and pricing new types of drugs are being studied by government combines investigators, the Commons was told yesterday.

Similar inquiries are going on in two other fields: automobile insurance rates and restrictions of certain gasoline companies on sales of accessory items.

This was disclosed in the annual report of T. D. MacDonald, director of combines investigation, tabled by Justice Minister Fulton.

The report did not identify the companies involved in the investigations.

Reduced Rank

Claiming the job is "purely a sinecure," Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena) presented a Commons bill that would demote the solicitor-general, Leon Balcer at present—from cabinet rank.

Other private members' bills, which generally find little success, call for abolition of capital punishments, establishment of hospital sweepstakes, a ban on trading stamps, unemployment insurance coverage for anyone who can't find work, a ban on nuclear weapons in Canada and a probe of concentration of ownership of newspapers and radio and TV stations.

Six-Mile Limit

External Affairs Minister Green said Canada will propose a six-mile territorial limit and a 12-mile fishing limit at the Law of the Sea conference in Geneva in March.

He said this was a "workable" compromise between the present three-mile limit and the 12-mile limit favored by many smaller nations.

Divorce Probe

John Drysdale (PC, Burnaby-Richmond) has proposed a special Commons committee inquiry into widening the grounds for divorce in Canada.

He said the committee should consider adultery, desertion, cruelty and insanity as legal grounds for divorce.

Freeze First

Prospects are poor that a royal commission studying railway problems will report before a freeze on freight rates is to end in March, Prime Minister Diefenbaker indicated.

Nehru Policy Supported

BANGALORE, India (Reuters)—India's ruling Congress party backed prime minister Nehru yesterday in giving unanimous support to his traditional policy of non-alignment with big power blocs.

It rejected an amendment which sought to delete from the official policy resolution a sentence reaffirming faith in non-alignment and the avoidance of military alliances.

"Whatever the consequences, India would never allow foreign armies on her soil, even to aid defence," Nehru said heatedly.

Army Exercise Ends on Island

NANAIMO — Headquarters B.C. Area, operating from here since Tuesday as an alternate base, closed down and returned to Vancouver yesterday.

The move, designed to test the mobility of a static formation, was part of an army province-wide national survival exercise.

'My Job In B.C.' –Bennett

Premier Bennett said yesterday he will remain premier of British Columbia "as long as the people want me."

He made it definite he won't seek the national Social Credit leadership at the national convention in July and that he can't be drafted.

"My job is in British Columbia," he said.

Licence Warning Issued

Motor vehicles branch superintendent George Lindsay gave warning yesterday that his department plans to crack down on licence suspensions, whether or not they are ordered by local magistrates.

He struck at the practice of granting permission to drive for business purposes only, and said that if a man were to get a guarantee of a driving licence if he had to have it to earn a living, it would wreck the principle that one had to drive carefully or lose his licence.

SPECIALLY CRITICAL

Mr. Lindsay was especially critical of a growing Vancouver practice to double the fines for impaired driving where no licence suspensions are recommended.

His department takes the view that the rich man could save his driving rights, where the poor man couldn't.

Magistrates recommend licence suspensions, but the motor vehicle branch superintendent actually does the suspending.

Will Talk About 'Trespass'

Whatever's Right Fine with Board

By R. O. MARRION

Greater Victoria school board is "certainly willing to negotiate" with Victoria city regarding the S. J. Willis Junior High School land on which the city claims the board has been trespassing since the school was built 10 years ago.

That assurance was given yesterday by board chairman W. C. Gelling.

"Whatever is right and proper," he said, "we'll certainly go along with it."

City council decided Thursday to seek recompense at 1949 value, for its 11.55-acre property on which the Greater Victoria school board built the school in 1949 without obtaining title.

City Manager C. C. Wyatt said yesterday the 1949 value had been estimated at $51,570.

If the board had bought the land when the school was built, he said, the province would have paid 50 per cent and the other Greater Victoria municipalities 39 per cent of the remainder, so Victoria city "lost about $36,000."

If the province and the school board were to agree now to pay the $51,570, Victoria would gain by about $38,700 on today's sharing basis. The remainder it would have to pay itself.

Amicable Settlement

But a year ago, when the question was discussed, Education Minister Leslie Peterson indicated strongly that the province would not share in that the matter could be settled amicably between the city and school board.

He was not available yesterday for comment.

If purchase is agreed on, and the province won't take part, "it will be a question of distributing an internal cost among the municipalities," Mr. Gelling said.

It seemed unfortunate that this circumstance could arise, he said, but "the city certainly has a point. It may be that other municipalities are in the same position, and it is simply a matter of finding out what would be done."

"I think the school board would like any settlement which would put the property in our own name. I know the school board will do all it can to get the matter settled."

Mayor Percy Scurrah said Thursday that seeking payment for the S. J. Willis property will be "a test case" and if successful may lead to the city seeking payment for other city-owned property used by the Greater Victoria board but not by the old Victoria city school board.

Only other major piece of property concerned, Mr. Wyatt said yesterday, is 1.92 acres between Gorge and Cecelia, on which the Greater Victoria board built a workshop and storage building.

"There are two ways of looking at it," I admit," Mr. Wyatt said. "The building inspector issued a permit for the construction, but on the other hand the school board went ahead with it, on city-owned land, without a 'by your leave'."

Ferry Starts On Thursday

Daily ferry service between Victoria and Vancouver will be resumed Thursday.

Service was cancelled Monday when the Princess Elaine and the Alaska Prince collided at the entrance to Vancouver harbor in a heavy fog.

Navy Salute To Hail Royal Birth

Birth of Queen Elizabeth's third child will be observed by the RCN Pacific Command with the firing of a royal salute "as soon as possible" after receipt of the announcement from naval headquarters at Ottawa.

A naval spokesman said yesterday a guard and band will be paraded during the firing of the salute; and all ships of the command will be dressed with masthead ensigns from the time of the salute until sunset.

Fifth Time in Same Area

Sneak Purse Thief Strikes Once More

Stealthy, Speedy Thug Makes Off With $30

A 22-year-old city woman who walks home two miles from work every night to save 13 cents bus fare, lost about $30 last night when her purse was snatched by a man at Fort and Belmont.

It was the fifth time since early December that a stealthy, fleet-footed thug has pounced on women and made off with their purses.

EIGHT-BLOCK RADIUS

All the attacks have occurred in a six to eight-block radius of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Deirdre A. Bumpus, 22, 1640 Rockland, had already walked nearly 1½ miles from Rithet Consolidated Ltd., 706 Fort, at about 5.25 p.m., when she was taken by surprise from behind.

The man ran up an alley, and instead of pursuing him, the victim ran to a nearby cafe to telephone police. An immediate, intensive search of the area failed to turn up a suspect, police said.

FELT TUGGING

The woman said she thought she was alone on the deserted but well-lighted street when "I felt this tugging, and my purse went." She said she thought the man was wearing crepe-soled shoes.

Miss Bumpus said she had read in the Colonist about four other women being attacked while walking alone in the same general area, but did not think anything like that would happen to her.

After last night's attack, city detectives renewed a plea for residents of the area to let them know of any suspicious-looking men seen loitering on the streets after dark.

On Dec. 4, Grace Chamberlain, 222 St. Charles, lost $65 to a fleet-footed purse-snatcher. On Dec. 22, about $18 was taken from Mrs. Barbara Scott, 1407 Fort. On Dec. 23, Mrs. Mabel Sampson, 1729 Oak Bay Avenue, fought off a would-be purse-snatcher. And on Dec. 30, Brenda Taylor, 2324 McNeill, was robbed of a purse containing 75 cents.

Thetis Park Sale

Conservationists Accept New Plan

Conservationists appeared mollified to a degree yesterday by withdrawal of a proposal to sell 76 acres of Thetis Lake Park property to the B.C. Electric and substitution of a company proposal to acquire only a 23-acre power line easement.

The original proposal, from city water works committee, was withdrawn at Thursday's council meeting, and the company's proposal to pay $200 an acre for the easement, leaving title with the city, will be considered by the committee next week.

Prof. L. J. Clark of Victoria University, vice-president of the Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association, said yesterday the association was strongly against a portion of Thetis Lake Park being sold.

He said he would be "unhappy, naturally," to see a power line cross any part of a park, but economically sometimes it was necessary.

The proposed easement runs along the northeastern edge of the property in its "panhandle" and then cuts through a projecting part comprising about 50 acres.

BUY EASEMENTS

"If this is off in the panhandle, I don't find any personal objection on a large scale," Prof. Clark said. "If the company didn't obtain this easement, I suppose it would have to buy easements through adjoining lands from farmers, and it would be more expensive. And I don't think the power line will be seen even from the hills in the central portion of the park."

Dr. William Newton, association member and plant pathologist, said the property at least should be retained as park, "and if the line goes over it, it should be by permission, so it could be ordered out if there is occasion to do so."

OBJECTIONS

He would have serious objections to granting the easement, he said, if the B.C. Electric would then control the property.

He also said he hoped a power line would be high enough so that brush below it would not have to be kept down by frequent burning or spraying, with harmful effects on wildlife.

Labor Body Will Probe Oath Report

The B.C. Federation of Labor will investigate reports that the provincial government ferry service is refusing to hire anyone who will not take an oath against striking.

Hiring for the two provincial ferries, Sidney and Tsawwassen, which will inaugurate the mainland ferry service this spring, is being carried out by the B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority.

A spokesman for Victoria Labor Council said the matter would be left in the hands of the provincial federation.

Off-Street Parking

City to Seek Portland Plan

Public works chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow has asked the city clerk to write for details of Portland's new $21,512,000 off-street parking program, he said yesterday.

The Portland program, designed to revitalize the downtown area as Victoria city council hopes to revitalize this city's downtown core, will be financed by city revenue bonds secured by a special assessment district encompassing the downtown area.

Victoria is seeking special legislation at the forthcoming provincial session to enable its off-street parking and mall program similarly to be backed up solely by downtown property if council deems this plan desirable when the time comes.

"I'm going to get the Portland details so we will have all the material from there to help us in any way in our own planning," Ald Edgelow said.

University Fund

$2,500,000 New Goal

A new goal of $2,500,00 was set yesterday for the Vicitoria University building fund.

The fund's management committee acting on a recommendation from Victoria University Council, approved the new objective in order to take full advantage of a matching dollar grant from the B.C. government.

ACCEPT CHALLENGE

Campaign officials yesterday issued a statement saying they will "accept the challenge" made by Premier Bennett last week to increase the fund goal from $1,500,000.

The policy-making university council, meanwhile, met last Monday and decided to recommend the increase.

Dr. W. H. Hickman, principal, said last night the council wholeheartedly supports the new objective but withheld full approval until it was endorsed by campaign officials.

ADDITIONAL MONEY

"After all," he said, "they are the people who must go out and raise the additional money."

J. Courtney Haddock, spokesman for the fund management committee, said its members "endorsed the new objective unanimously and very enthusiastically."

He added: "This is the best news to hit Victoria in a long time."

Premier Bennett last week urged campaign officials to raise their sights and offered a matching dollar grant of up to $2,500,000 paid at the rate of not more than $500,000 a year.

The campaign board said the additional funds would go into building "further teaching facilities" which would otherwise have taken many years to acquire.

Officials announced yesterday British America Paint Co. Ltd. has pledged $25,000 on condition that other local businesses make proportionate gifts.

IN ADDITION

This sum is in addition to the $10,000 gift made earlier this week by J. Carl Pendray, president of the firm.

R. B. Wilson, campaign chairman, also announced appointment of David Angus to the council's building committee.

Earlier, harbormaster Capt. Ronald Newell was named chairman of an eight-man Chamber of Commerce group which will canvass businesses in Greater Victoria on behalf of the fund.

Working with him will be D. R. Abbott, John Coppinger, Fred Manning, W. C. Mearns, J. Conway Parrot, W. A. Pendray, William McColl and Eric Mallett.

T. H. Cressy

New Candidate In Tory Ranks

Claiming that the government could do with "less razzle-dazzle and more concern with the little man," Victoria businessman T. H. Cressy yesterday announced his candidacy for the Progressive Conservative nomination.

Entry of Mr. Cressy assures a contest at the Feb. 23 nomination meeting. City lawyer Monty Drake, Maj.-Gen. C. A. P. Murison and Clive Campbell, former deputy minister of public works, are also campaigning for one of the three seats in the Victoria constituency.

38 YEARS

Born in London, England, 50 years ago, Mr. Cressy has resided in Canada for 38 years. He now lives with his wife and one of his three children at 3149 Shelbourne Street. He has been secretary of the Victoria Progressive Conservative Association for two years.

Missing Girl Back Home

A Saanich girl missing from home since Tuesday was back with her family last night.

Due Monday

Giant Turbine Unloaded Here

A 93-ton turbine for Alberta will be unloaded here because the port of Vancouver lacks the necessary heavy-lift facilities.

It is part of a 200-ton shipment of Swiss-built machinery for the new steam power plant in Edmonton due to arrive here Monday aboard the North German Lloyd liner Spreestein.

The giant turbine will be lifted out of the ship's hold by the 100-ton lift crane at the government graving dock in Esquimalt and loaded aboard a specially reinforced flatcar on the dockside.

It will be taken by car barge from the Canadian National loading slip at Point Ellice to Port Mann on the mainland.

The CNR brought in a depressed bed flatcar from Eastern Canada to carry the turbine which is 20 feet long, 14 feet wide and 13 feet high.

Tunnels, bridges and other clearances along tracks between here and Edmonton have been carefully checked to make sure it will pass in safety.

Chamber Offers Auditorium Aid

Public affairs group of the Chamber of Commerce will "get its shoulder to the wheel and help push" in civic investigation of auditorium possibilities, it decided yesterday at its frst meetng of the year.

Members expressed concern about an auditorium paying its way—"That's an important thing, whether it's going to go into the hole every year," said Aubrey Kent—but in the end felt sure Mayor Percy Scurrah's special auditorium committee would look into that question.

The group will offer to give every assistance in auditorium studies.

With Ira Hill as its new chairman, it also decided:

To consider looking into the desirability and feasibility of establishing a better business bureau.

To establish a committee to work in co-operation with the Community Chest in studying whether or not it would be a good idea to have a civic committee to screen charity requests.

To find if there is a need for some action on city trades licensing: it had been suggested, the group was told, that the city had no provision for cancellation of licences when holders were found to be engaged in bad business practices.

The fluoridation campaign was one of the group's major efforts last year, retiring chairman Eric Mallett said.

Steps Taken To Guard City Art

Recent thefts of valuable art treasures in Vancouver have caused Greater Victoria Art Gallery officials to take extra precautions.

A hidden warning system has been in use for some months at the gallery. A professional patrol system has now been added, and city police are assisting. There are caretakers on the premises 24 hours a day.

"Even though we are not yet in the category of the larger museums with their nationally-known treasures we wish to provide every protection possible for our permanent and loan collection," Colin Graham, curator, said yesterday.

No Need for Alarm — Naturalist Explains

Crows Just Do Their Job

Fears expressed by some Victorians that crows are making tremendous inroads on other bird populations of this area need cause no undue alarm, Dr. Clifford Carl, curator of the provincial museum, said yesterday.

He was commenting on a report that in the past year crows have killed 19,000,000 ducks by eating eggs, that they have attacked meadow larks in this district, and have pushed owls out of Oak Bay.

"Crows are predator birds," said Dr. Carl. "It's quite true that they eat the eggs of smaller birds, and even the birds themselves. It seems cruel, but it's all a part of the balance of nature.

"If the crows did not do so, then the smaller birds would increase to a point where they would be a serious pest. The duck figure I have seen in print, but it pertains to the continent.

"I don't know about crows attacking meadow larks.

"These are by nature a field bird, nesting on the ground in open country. Naturally, as Victoria has grown, the larks have gone farther away.

"In any event, the larks can defend themselves fairly well against crows, but are defenceless against the cats that come with city expansion.

"As for the owls, they don't worry about crows. A number of crows may gang up on an owl; otherwise the owls can take care of themselves."

Beauty Counters Offer Bargains

This is a dreary time of year. We all need a little pepping up, someway or other. According to advertisers we may have tired blood, tired feet, tired nerves . . . or be just plain weary. Excuse me while I yawn.

For a spot of morale raising there are some real bargains now.

Starting head first. An enormous bottle of colortone for brunettes, redheads and dark brown will shampoo and bring out the highlights, not tint. All for $1.50.

Other, ordinary shampoos are reduced to 69 cents a big bottle.

* * *

Now to our faces.

They probably need a very thorough cleaning. Several well-known beauty names have reduced their preparations and one excellent deep cleanser is 49 cents a bottle. This is being sold off by the store to make room for the same thing in a plastic container selling at about three times the price.

Another big-name cosmetic firm has reduced its deep cleaners to $1.15 for a light-weight bottle.

Several firms have put out jars of moisture balancer, one for dry skins and a different one for greasy skins. These are $2.65.

* * *

Lotions for hand and body are also necessary to add a little lustre to our skins. For $1.50 and $1.65 there are some very good sized jars on sale.

Another cleansing liquid and a skin softener, which is an astringent is priced at $2.

An Estrogenic hand lotion now $1.95 usually sells for $4.

Excellent lipsticks are selling at 75 cents.

For that extra something I suggest a touch of one of the colognes, half-price, now only $1.

After that new hair-do you need to add spice to life, it may be wise to spend another $1 on a plastic hood scattered with flowers to protect it from the inevitable "weather" we must expect in the next few weeks.

Mrs. F. Dearman conducted the meeting and Mrs. J. Gillis was hostesses. Guests included Mrs. F. Blaus of Victoria Club, Mrs. D. Crease, Mrs. R. H. Holly, Mrs. S. McCulloch, Mrs. R. Jones, Mrs. E. Young and Miss M. Houston.

What's Cooking!

Beef, Pork, Lamb, Veal or Ham Ring in Change for Meat Loaf

By LOUISE MOORE

Spell fowl any way you wish but it's still anathema to me and I suppose most of us feel the same way after a surfeit of turkey, goose and duck during the holiday season.

Now we want good red meat—even a savory meat loaf which many of us look upon as something for a make-shift meal, comes into its own. It is a wise choice for a quick and easy meal and one good enough for those special occasions, too. Yes, and another thing in its favor is that it can be made up in the morning ready to slip into the oven when the business gal comes home from work.

SHORTER TIME

For speedier service, make it individual fashion and the baking time is shortened.

A meat loaf can come to the table in an endless variety of flavors if you know how to ring in the changes. Beef, pork, lamb, veal or ham or a mixture of two or more meats may be used for a change in character. Sausage meat instead of fresh pork may be combined with beef and veal and you have another delicious flavor.

MEAT LOAF

Put into a large bowl 2 pounds ground round or chuck beef. Add 1¼ cups soft bread crumbs, 2 beaten eggs, ⅓ cup non-fat dry milk powder dissolved in ⅓ cup water, 1 good-sized onion finely minced and first sauteed in a little butter or bacon or beef drippings, 3 tbsp. tomato ketchup, 1 tsp. dry mustard, 1 tsp. poultry seasoning mixed with 1 tblsp. brown sugar, 1 tsp. salt and ⅛ tsp. black pepper.

Blend well but lightly so the loaf won't be too compact. Shape into a loaf on shallow baking pan and bake in moderate oven (350) about 1¼ hours or until done.

VARIATIONS

Use 1 pound ground beef, ½ pound sausage meat and ½ pound ground veal.

Or use 1½ pounds ground ham and ½ pound ground veal, ¼ cup each finely chopped celery leaves and grated carrot plus 2 tblsp. mixed parsley or parsley flakes.

* * *

Add ¼ cup finely chopped sweet pickles to the beef mixture, spread over top and sides a mixture of 1 tblsp. brown sugar, the same of prepared mustard and 2 tsp. lemon juice and bake.

* * *

After baking in a loaf pan, frost the beef loaf with Duchess potatoes, then return to a very hot oven for potatoes to gently brown. Serve with tomato sauce and a mixed green salad.

Or, score the loaf diamond fashion after an hour's baking, making slight dents and then spoon red currant jelly mixed with a little grated orange rind, horseradish and orange juice into the diamond crevices. Return to oven until mixture becomes glazed and the loaf piping hot. Serve with extra sauce.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: These are the facts: I married Brad two years ago. He said he was college educated, a hero in the Korean war and spent 20 months in a veterans' hospital. He claims he received a citation for an injury suffered while dragging a buddy to safety under heavy fire.

His parents are dead, but he says they left him a large estate which he can't get at because a crooked lawyer burned the will. He also claims he is the illegitimate grandson of Geofgi Zhukov.

Last night his billfold was on the dresser and I wanted to surprise him with a new picture of myself. I noticed his army classification card under my old picture when I went to remove it. I wasn't snooping, Ann, but I couldn't help but notice it said 4F.

It also stated he was born in 1926 which means he is 34 and not 29 as he had led me to believe. I am so upset I don't know what to do. He is very sensitive and gets angry when anyone questions him too much. Shall I tell him what I know?—SHOCKED WIFE.

Garden-Variety Liar

Dear Shocked: Your husband sounds like more than the ordinary garden-variety liar. When a person mixes up fantasy with fact to this extent he is mentally ill.

Tell him what you know and suggest that he get help. Your family doctor can direct him to a mental health clinic if he cannot afford private psychiatric care.

Dear Ann: I'm a woman in my late 20s who was reared in a small town. I never had an opportunity to travel until I got this job with a cosmetic firm.

I meet many nice men in my work and get asked out to dinner. Can you tell me if it's proper for the gentleman to come to the door of my hotel room when he picks me up, or should we meet in the lobby? Also, should he say goodnight in the lobby or see me to my door? A certain man told me it was small-townish to meet and greet in the lobby.—GRASSY GREEN.

Dear Grassy: The lobby is like the front door of your home, so to speak. Your hotel room is your bedroom.

If you were at home a gentleman wouldn't come to your bedroom door to get you, nor would he escort you there at the end of the evening.

Tell "that certain friend" to say his hails and farewells in the lobby. Suggest that he wipe the egg off his face and use the house phone when he arrives. That's what it's for.

Short Eager-Beavers

Dear Ann Landers: The other day you ran a letter from a woman in her 30s who is about to marry a man 5 inches shorter than she. She wanted to know if it would be all right if he wore elevator shoes and she wore ballet slippers.

I wish that selfconscious couple could have been with me the other night when I chaperoned a group of high school seniors. There were at least 20 girls at the party who were 5' 10 or taller. They all wore high heels and were having a wonderful time. The boys were cutting these tall gals left and right—and many of the eagerest beavers were 5' 5 and shorter.

Hats off to the modern generation. They don't let genetics or lack of cod liver oil ruin their fun.—L.C.J.

★ ★ ★

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DAILY NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION IS NOW 62,471,247 — LARGEST IN THE HISTORY OF THE NEWSPAPER INDUSTRY!

More daily newspapers are being read these days because more newspapers are being sold. The latest count (Audit Bureau of Circulations — six months ending March 31, 1959) showed that the combined daily newspaper circulation in the United States and Canada has reached an all-time high.

This strong testimonial to the magnetic appeal of the daily newspaper is of particular importance to advertisers—both national and local. It means that their messages have been given even greater opportunity to be seen, examined and acted upon.

With its record net paid circulation, the daily newspaper, more than ever, earns its title as the Total Selling Medium. It sells more people all along the line from manufacturer to consumer.

If you want to penetrate deep into a sea of buyers, use the daily newspaper—with the highest total audited circulation ever! The Total Selling Medium is the Daily Newspaper.

SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

With its "grow-in" workability, weather resistance and lasting good looks, "Keystone" clear Western Red Cedar Siding has long been recognized as the standard of quality home construction.

It has a distinctive "shadow line" which enhances any architectural style in any setting, and is used to create a variety of interesting decorative effects on indoor surfaces as well as exterior.

5 GRADES

"CLEAR"
Bevel
SIDING
Siding of this grade is designed for use where perfection is demanded. It is well milled on face and edges making a smooth surface usable full length without waste 6" and wider siding is vertical grain (VG) for ¾ the width or more from thick edge.

"A"
Bevel
SIDING
Siding of this grade is selected for use where exceptionally fine appearance is desired. It is usable full length without waste and may be mixed grain (MG).

"B"
Bevel
SIDING
Appearance closely approaching that of the higher grades is often achieved with siding of this grade which contains slightly more characteristics and some cutouts in longer pieces. Craftsmen of even moderate skill find it easy to apply. It may be mixed grain (MG).

"RUSTIC"
Bevel
SIDING
Siding of this grade is recommended for use on sidewall coverings where the distinctive charm of rustic appearance is desired. Pieces are graded from the resawn or rough side which is exposed. Thick edge may be rough or surfaced.

"C"
Bevel
SIDING
Pieces of this grade have one or more characteristics which are such size or number that the piece is not of a higher grade. Lengths are random with no specified percentages.

Big Parking Scheme Approved in Portland

PORTLAND (CP) — Downtown Portland, Inc., Thursday night approved a $21,512,000 off-street parking program.

It will be financed by revenue bonds issued by the city and secured by a special assessment district encompassing the entire downtown area.

Edgar W. Smith, president of the downtown area property owners group, said this was the first step in the group's plan for revitalizing the downtown core area.

Nine parking garages for short-time parkers would ring the downtown area under the plan. They would be within two or four blocks of major buildings, stores, banks, hotels and restaurants.

The plan also calls for all-day parking in an urban area for 25 cents with shuttle bus service into the core area.

Fishing as Vital to B.C. As Tourists, Says Chamber

Commercial fishing is as important to the province as tourist fishing in the opinion of Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce.

A request from the Pender Island Chamber of Commerce for support of a proposal to shut down commercial fishing in Gulf Islands inland waters was turned down this week.

The reason for closing down the area was to allow greater catches for tourist sports fishermen.

Thomas A. Dinneen said the fishing industry is every bit as important as the tourist industry.

"I make that statement as a sports fisherman," he added.

Herring Hunt

75 Seiners Tied Up As 15 Sail

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fifteen of the largest seiners on the British Columbia coast will sail for the herring grounds this weekend to try to complete the season's quota.

But the remaining 75 boats of the herring fleet will stay in port because the private companies of the Fisheries Association of B.C. have refused to pay a minimum of $13 a ton for reduction fish.

The skippers and crews of the 15 boats making the trip are members of the Fishermen's Co-operative Federation and have been guaranteed the $13 minimum. They will also share equally in any further proceeds as the catch is marketed.

The crews hope to take most, if not all, of the remainder of the season's quota. About 166,000 tons were taken before the private companies refused to accept any more fish.

'Champion' Would Protect Little Man from State

OTTAWA (CP) — The individual Canadian needs "a public champion" to protect him from the mass of government orders and regulations, Douglas Fisher, CCF - Port Arthur, said Friday.

The individual should have some form of "built-in protection" against the state in a society moving towards socialism, he said in an interview.

Mr. Fisher was elaborating on a resolution he has presented in the Commons proposing a special committee to study ways of protecting citizens from "the operation of delegated authority" and to scrutinize "the proliferation, logic and fairness" of government regulations.

His regulations suggested two methods: The kind of public champion used in Scandinavian countries, called an "ombundsman," and the formation of a committee similar to the British Parliament's committee on statutory instruments.

Mr. Fisher said the Scandinavian ombundsman is similar to the Canadian auditor-general, but deals with the protection of individuals against state regulations instead of with the control of government expenditures.

Robbed

Looking back over her shoulder, Dierdre Bumpus, 1640 Rockland, had only a glimpse of her attacker last night before he ran off with her purse containing $30. Incident occurred at Fort and Belmont Streets, and was the fifth in that district since early December. See story on page 13.—(Colonist photo.)

Red Missile-Trackers Shadowed by U.S. Planes

HONOLULU (UPI) — American and Japanese scientists yesterday took up an electronic watch for the first sign of a Russian super-rocket flashing toward its target in the central Pacific. Meanwhile U.S. planes were shadowing missile-tracking Russian vessels in the 45,000 square mile area.

Nanaimo Gunmen Hit Twice

NANAIMO—Masked gunmen held up two corner grocery stores last night and escaped with about $150 and a cash register.

The bandits, with nylon stockings pulled over their heads and covering their faces, raided Dickie's store in Harewood just before 8 p.m. and picked up $100.

SAME PAIR?

It is believed the same pair of gunmen held up Wagstaff's store on Haliburton Street 15 minutes later, taking a cash register containing about $50 and fleeing in a car.

Police set up roadblocks on highways leading from Nanaimo. But witnesses' description of the bandits and their getaway car was hazy.

SON RAN

David Dickie was closing his business when the men entered. One threatened him with an automatic and pushed him against the till. Mr. Dickie's son Grant looked in on the holdup from the rear of the store and rushed back to fetch a shotgun.

Bandits fled before he could run around the outside of the store.

TIDYING UP

At 8.15 p.m., Fred Wong was tidying up the store he leases from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wagstaff, who live in the rear. He glanced up and saw the barrel of a gun pointing at him.

"This is a holdup," barked one of the pair through his mask. They picked up the register and walked out.

U.S. FIRM SEGREGATES CANADIANS, ESKIMOS

Defiance of Order Cause for Discharge

OTTAWA (UPI)—A United States company operating the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line in Canada's far north has ordered complete social segregation of its white employees and Eskimos in the area.

The order by the Federal Electric Company Corporation of Paramus, N.J., dated Dec. 10, 1959, applied to its employees, mostly Canadians, in the "pin" sector of the radar line between Cambridge Bay, N.W.T., and the Yukon-Alaska border.

Failure to comply with the rule, the order said, was "cause for discharge."

CAME TO LIGHT

The order came to light yesterday in the Commons when Mervyn A. Hardie (L—Mackenzie River) asked what the government's part was in the action.

Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton said he would check and reply later.

(A company spokesman at Paramus, N.J., said last night that the regulations applying to the relationship between whites and Eskimos were agreed upon by the governments of Canada and the United States in diplomatic notes. He said Federal Electric's contract for the Dew Line operation was with the United States Air Force.

(Discussions in Ottawa between the company and the department of northern affairs Wednesday ended in agreement that "experience over the last several years has indicated that some existing regulations could possibly be relaxed with beneficial results to all concerned," the spokesman added.)

The new regulation has brought protests from several company employees who question the Federal Electric's right to prevent fraternization on the basis of race, color or religion. They have also pointed out that the matter involves direction of the personal lives of Canadians on Canadian soil by an American company.

The question is now being reviewed by the government and the company, it was learned.

Some 80 white employees are involved in the order. There are about 500 Eskimos in close touch with the 11 bases in that sector of the line.

HEALTH PROBLEMS

The company order said that fraternization between whites and Eskimos raised "health and sociological problems of mutual concern." It ordered —under threat of dismissal— an end to:

—All white contacts with Eskimos other than those employed by the company except in cases of emergency.

—All "trading, buying, selling and passing of gifts" between whites and Eskimos.

Students Riot In Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) — Two thousand police today fought with and ejected 500 students who broke through security lines at Tokyo international airport in an attempt to halt departure of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi for Washington.

After an hour of fighting that wrecked the interior of the terminal's showplace restourant, police hauled away the 500 but some 3,000 others massed in the cold rain about a mile and a half from the airport.

Kishi had changed his departure time in hope of minimizing left-wing protest moves.

The students, members of the ultra-leftist National Federation of Students' Self-Government Association (Zengakuren) were protesting against Kishi's scheduled signing of the new U.S.-Japan security treaty. The association's leaders are so radical they were expelled by the Japan Communist party.

Lawyer Names Gaglardi

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi helped prevent a man from receiving $25,000 which was rightfully his, it was alleged in Supreme Court Friday.

Lawyer Jay Gould made the charge as he sought a court order instructing the minister to show why he should not be committed for contempt of court.

COURT ORDER

The man should have received the money under the terms of a court order but Mr. Gaglardi diverted it to a United States bank from which the man would have great difficulty getting it, Mr. Gould told Mr. Justice T. C. Norris. These actions, he said, showed the minister had aided and abetted in the contempt of a Supreme Court order.

BUSINESSMEN

Mr. Gould is appearing for two American businessmen who say they loaned $50,000 to a construction firm building 12 miles of the Trans-Canada Highway near Revelstoke, B.C. He stressed that Mr. Gaglardi was being cited as a citizen and not necessarily as minister of highways.

Russians Approve Arms Cut

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union's parliament voted without dissent yesterday to put into effect Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposal to cut the armed forces by 1,200,000 men. It called on the rest of the world to follow the Soviet lead.

Not a voice among the 1,400 members of the Supreme Soviet was raised in protest and Khrushchev thanked them for it.

"All people who spoke on my report and on the draft law expressed their approval," he said. "Allow me to express my gratitude."

Khrushchev introduced his proposal Thursday and made it clear that Soviet military might would be stronger, not weaker, following the troop cuts because the money saved could be channeled into the economy and Russia could rely on its nuclear rocket power.

Man Wins Seven Cars Can't Drive

LONDON (Reuters) — Douglas Barnes Friday surveyed a fleet of seven new cars he won in a newspaper contest and conceded there was only one drawback—he can't drive.

Jail Faces Skipper If Colony Ship Sails

SEATTLE (UPI)—Coast guard Rear Admiral Allen Winbeck yesterday issued an ultimatum to Donald A. Harrsch, captain of the Galapagos Island colony ship—the Alert.

Winbeck, commander of the 13th coast guard district here, said that if the Alert sailed from its dock at Westport, about 80 air miles from here, intending to continue on its original journey, the ship would be boarded and its captain arrested.

With its entire crew of 19 persons, including three women and four children, seasick and with water up to the deck plates in its engine room, the Alert was towed into Westport yesterday.

Harrsch issued a distress signal for assistance before trying to get over the Gray's Harbor bar at the entrance to that bay.

The coast guard at Gray's Harbor answered the call and the 40-foot ship Invincible stood by the Alert until daylight. At that time a coast guardsman boarded the vessel and guided it over the bar.

Should the alert now try to sail out of the bay, Harrsch would be taken to the nearest U.S. federal court and charged with operating a ship or motor vessel in a negligent and reckless manner endangering the lives and property of those abord, Winbeck said.

Conviction under such a charge could result in a fine of up to $2,000 and imprisonment of one year or both.

Chief boatswain R. W. Bowell, coast guard commander at Gray's Harbor, said the boat's pump failed on the 100-foot craft causing Harrsch to send out the distress signal.

'I'm Insane,' Leader Moans

Charge of Treason Stuns Young New York 'Nazis'

NEW YORK (AP)—The self-proclaimed leader of a Nazi-like party—with aims to "get rid of all Jews"—and two of his first recruits were charged with treason in court Friday.

The treason charge, which could result in the death penalty, stunned the trio.

"I'm insane," moaned John Wallace, 21, leader of the National American Socialist Renaissance party, "I did this in a state of intoxication."

Wallace, who wears a Hitler-style forelock, and his two followers, Hugh Barlow, 20, and Richard Phelps, 16, both house painters, were scheduled to be charged with consorting for an unlawful purpose.

But Magistrate Milton Solomon said: "As I look at it, treason exists where one plots a war against society and his government."

When he ordered new charges, Wallace clutched his stomach and moaned, Phelps began to wail and Barlow looked stunned.

Police who raided Wallace's home found swastikas, Jewish hate literature, arm bands and phonograph records of Hitler's speeches.

In Detroit, a 14-year-old boy who said he was the Fuehrer of a teen-age club of Nazis told police Friday he and a younger companion painted swastikas on a public school, smashed a school window and left a note reading "Heil Hitler—the Third Reich."

The boy, son of a University of Detroit English teacher, told police he headed a club which an older brother, now with the U.S. armed forces in Germany, organized among neighborhood boys four years ago.

Police Told To Stop Cafe Raids

VANCOUVER (CP) — City police were instructed Friday to suspend laying of charges of illegal possession of liquor in restaurants after B.C. Supreme Court set aside conviction on such a charge.

Counsel for the Geisha Garden Restaurant, fined $1,000 for having whiskey and sake on the premises, said the sake was for cooking and the whiskey had been left following a licenced banquet.

Hasty Judge Chided

LONDON (AP)—A British judge was rebuked by the Court of Criminal Appeal Friday for goading a hesitant jury to hurry up with its verdict because he wanted to catch a train.

The appeal court ruled Judge Sir Wintringham Stable had done "a disservice to the cause of justice" by ordering the jurymen to deliver a verdict within 10 minutes or be locked up for the night. Three men found guilty by the jury had their convictions quashed by the appeal judge.

Run Over by Truck, Boy in Fair Condition

A seven-year-old Saseenos boy was in fair condition this morning after being run over by a one-ton truck on Sooke Road last night.

David Leslie Planes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Planes of Laidlow Road, Saseenos, was treated for concussion and a fractured hip after being rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by West Coast Ambulance about 6 p.m.

Police said the boy apparently ran into the path of a panel truck owned by a Port Renfrew logging firm. Police identified the driver as Marshall Johnston, 4143 Hawkes Avenue, Victoria.

The injured boy's nine-year-old brother, Robert, said he and David were on their way to a nearby grocery store at Saseenos to buy some food for the family's supper.

"He ran out to go to the other side of the road and a truck hit him.

"He went right under it, and after he came out behind it he rolled about two or three times. I ran out to look at him and he had blood all over his face," the brother said.

'Slippery Hill' Victim

Trans-Canada Highway

Glare Ice Blamed As Truck Flips

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — Ice has claimed another truck on "Slippery Hill"—a stretch of the Trans-Canada Highway between Old Victoria Road and Kilamalu Road.

It was almost at the same spot where a truck went out of control and crashed a week ago, injuring the driver.

This time it was a Cowichan Creamery Co-Operative Association truck loaded with five tons of dairy feed. The truck skidded eight miles south of Duncan and slammed into a bank, then turned over.

An estimated $600 damage was done to the truck.

At least half the load of feed was damaged by water and leaking gas. The truck had to be towed away.

The driver, Roy Courchene of Hillbank Road, Cowichan Station, was taken to King's Daughters' Hospital by police and treated for cuts on the face.

All the serious motor vehicle accidents between Duncan and the Malahat since winter set in, have been on this stretch of road.

It slopes gently to the south for about two or three miles. Police said it seems to be one of the first sections of the highway to develop "glare ice."

Resident Flees Blazing House

PORT ALBERNI—The only occupant of a house at 511 Burde Street escaped in his night attire when the building went up in flames early Friday morning.

Sohan Singh, about 58, alone in the house while his wife and six children were visiting in Duncan, was given clothing by the Salvation Army and taken to a hotel.

Damage in the blaze was estimated at $3,000 for the house, which was completely destroyed, and $2,000 for furniture.

The house was owned by Sohan Singh and Amer Kour.

North Cowichan

Mills Pay Half Taxes Of District

NORTH COWICHAN—This area which was founded on farming now receives more than half its taxes from two forest industries, municipal officials state.

The two companies are the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. pulp mill at Crofton and the MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. mill at Chemainus.

They total about 60 per cent of the $26,280,790 assessment total for 1959, an increase of $1,500,000 over the last year. For tax purposes this year, one mill will bring $26,280.

First Time One Time Too Many

DUNCAN—Victoria building contractor F. C. Fyfe said in police court yesterday that the "first time" he touched a steering wheel since his driver's licence was suspended he was stopped by police.

He explained: "A friend's car was stolen and left at Qualicum. I was taking it back. It's the first time I touched a car since getting suspended."

He pleaded guilty and was fined $50.

Tofino Road 'Hazardous'

'Refugees' Welcome

NANAIMO—Civil defence co-ordinator for Nanaimo, Dawson Gordon, and the local civil defence organization is planning to make Nanaimo a reception centre.

In case of a national emergency, up to 100,000 persons evacuated from Victoria and the Lower Mainland could be accommodated in the city under the new plan.

UCLUELET — Tofino-Ucluelet school district has appealed to education and highways departments to eliminate the "hazardous condition" of the Tofino-Ucluelet road, which has resulted in a halt to school bus runs along the 30-mile route.

Representatives from both centres have urged Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi to dispatch two graders to start improving the road from each end.

Ucluelet-Tofino Transportation Co., contract-holders for a 55-passenger school bus in service over the route, had requested to withdraw the service because of the condition of the road.

G. R. Hurley, school board secretary-treasurer, said the delegation that met Mr. Gaglardi found that the minister had no knowledge of the conditions.

'My Job In B.C.' –Bennett

Premier Bennett said yesterday he will remain premier of British Columbia "as long as the people want me."

He made it definite he won't seek the national Social Credit leadership at the national convention in July and that he can't be drafted.

"My job is in British Columbia," he said.

Licence Warning Issued

Motor vehicles branch superintendent George Lindsay gave warning yesterday that his department plans to crack down on licence suspensions, whether or not they are ordered by local magistrates.

He struck at the practice of granting permission to drive for business purposes only, and said that if a man were to get a guarantee of a driving licence if he had to have it to earn a living, it would wreck the principle that one had to drive carefully or lose his licence.

SPECIALLY CRITICAL

Mr. Lindsay was especially critical of a growing Vancouver practice to double the fines for impaired driving where no license suspensions are recommended.

His department takes the vilew that the rich man could save his driving rights, where the poor man couldn't.

Magistrates recommend licence suspensions, but the motor vehicle branch superintendent actually does the suspending.

S. J. Willis Junior High School . . . on borrowed property

Will Talk About 'Trespass'

Whatever's Right Fine with Board

By R. O. MARRION

Greater Victoria school board is "certainly willing to negotiate" with Victoria city regarding the S. J. Willis Junior High School land on which the city claims the board has been trespassing since the school was built 10 years ago.

That assurance was given yesterday by board chairman W. C. Gelling.

"Whatever is right and proper," he said, "we'll certainly go along with it."

City council decided Thursday to seek recompense at 1949 value, for its 11.55-acre property on which the Greater Victoria school board built the school in 1949 without obtaining title.

City Manager C. C. Wyatt said yesterday the 1949 value had been estimated at $51,570.

If the board had bought the land when the school was built, he said, the province would have paid 50 per cent and the other Greater Victoria municipalities 39 per cent of the remainder, so Victoria city "lost about $36,000."

If the province and the school board were to agree now to pay the $51,570, Victoria would gain by about $38,700 on today's sharing basis. The remainder it would have to pay itself.

Amicable Settlement

But a year ago, when the question was discussed, Education Minister Leslie Peterson indicated strongly that the province would not share in that the matter could be settled amicably between the city and school board.

He was not available yesterday for comment.

If purchase is agreed on, and the province won't take part, "it will be a question of distributing an internal cost among the municipalities," Mr. Gelling said.

It seemed unfortunate that this circumstance could arise, he said, but "the city certainly has a point. It may be that other municipalities are in the same position, and it is simply a matter of finding out what would be done."

"I think the school board would like any settlement which would put the property in our own name. I know the school board will do all it can to get the matter settled."

Mayor Percy Scurrah said Thursday that seeking payment for the S. J. Willis property will be "a test case" and if successful may lead to the city seeking payment for other city-owned property used by the Greater Victoria board but not by the old Victoria city school board.

Only other major piece of property concerned, Mr. Wyatt said yesterday, is 1.92 acres between Gorge and Cecelia, on which the Greater Victoria board built a workshop and storage building.

"There are two ways of looking at it," I admit," Mr. Wyatt said. "The building inspector issued a permit for the construction, but on the other hand the school board went ahead with it, on city-owned land, without a 'by your leave'."

Navy Salute To Hail Royal Birth

Birth of Queen Elizabeth's third child will be observed by the RCN Pacific Command with the firing of a royal salute "as soon as possible" after receipt of the announcement from naval headquarters at Ottawa.

Fifth Time in Same Area

Sneak Purse Thief Strikes Once More

Stealthy, Speedy Thug Makes Off With $30

A 22-year-old city woman who walks home two miles from work every night to save 13 cents bus fare, lost about $30 last night when her purse was snatched by a man at Fort and Belmont.

It was the fifth time since early December that a stealthy, fleet-footed thug has pounced on women and made off with their purses.

EIGHT-BLOCK RADIUS

All the attacks have occurred in a six to eight-block radius of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Deirdre A. Bumpus, 22, 1640 Rockland, had already walked nearly 1½ miles from Rithet Consolidated Ltd., 706 Fort, at about 5.25 p.m., when she was taken by surprise from behind.

The man ran up an alley, and instead of pursuing him, the victim ran to a nearby cafe to telephone police. An immediate, intensive search of the area failed to turn up a suspect, police said.

FELT TUGGING

The woman said she thought she was alone on the deserted but well-lighted street when "I felt this tugging, and my purse went." She said she thought the man was wearing crepe-soled shoes.

Miss Bumpus said she had read in the Colonist about four other women being attacked while walking alone in the same general area, but did not think anything like that would happen to her.

After last night's attack, city detectives renewed a plea for residents of the area to let them know of any suspicious-looking men seen loitering on the streets after dark.

On Dec. 4, Grace Chamberlain, 222 St. Charles, lost $65 to a fleet-footed purse-snatcher. On Dec. 22, about $18 was taken from Mrs. Barbara Scott, 1407 Fort. On Dec. 23, Mrs. Mabel Sampson, 1729 Oak Bay Avenue, fought off a would-be puse-snatcher. And on Dec. 30, Branda Taylor, 2324 McNeill, was robbed of a purse containing 75 cents.

Thetis Park Sale

Conservationists Accept New Plan

Conservationists appeared mollified to a degree yesterday by withdrawal of a proposal to sell 76 acres of Thetis Lake Park property to the B.C. Electric and substitution of a company proposal to acquire only a 23-acre power line easement.

The original proposal, from city water works committee, was withdrawn at Thursday's council meeting, and the company's proposal to pay $200 an acre for the easement, leaving title with the city, will be considered by the committee next week.

Prof. L. J. Clark of Victoria University, vice-president of the Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association, said yesterday the association was strongly against a portion of Thetis Lake Park being sold.

He said he would be "unhappy, naturally," to see a power line cross any part of a park, but economically sometimes it was necessary.

The proposed easement runs along the northeastern edge of the property in its "panhandle" and then cuts through a projecting part comprising about 50 acres.

BUY EASEMENTS

"If this is off in the panhandle, I don't find any personal objection on a large scale," Prof. Clark said. "If the company didn't obtain this easement, I suppose it would have to buy easements through adjoining lands from farmers, and it would be more expensive. And I don't think the power line will be seen even from the hills in the central portion of the park."

Dr. William Newton, association member and plant pathologist, said the property at least should be retained as park, "and if the line goes over it, it should be by permission, so it could be ordered out if there is occasion to do so."

OBJECTIONS

He would have serious objections to granting the easement, he said, if the B.C. Electric would then control the property.

He also said he hoped a power line would be high enough so that brush below it would not have to be kept down by frequent burning or spraying, with harmful effects on wildlife.

Labor Body Will Probe Oath Report

The B.C. Federation of Labor will investigate reports that the provincial government ferry service is refusing to hire anyone who will not take an oath against striking.

Hiring for the two provincial ferries, Sidney and Tsawwassen, which will inaugurate the mainland ferry service this spring, is being carried out by the B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority.

A spokesman for Victoria Labor Council said the matter would be left in the hands of the provincial federation.

Off-Street Parking

City to Seek Portland Plan

Public works chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow has asked the city clerk to write for details of Portland's new $21,512,000 off-street parking program, he said yesterday.

The Portland program, designed to revitalize the downtown area as Victoria city council hopes to revitalize this city's downtown core, will be financed by city revenue bonds secured by a special assessment district encompassing the downtown area.

Victoria is seeking special legislation at the forthcoming provincial session to enable its off-street parking and mall program similarly to be backed up solely by downtown property if council deems this plan desirable when the time comes.

"I'm going to get the Portland details so we will have all the material from there to help us in any way in our own planning," Ald Edgelow said.

The city and chamber of commerce is asking the federal government for improved fishing fleet accommodation.

Due Monday

Giant Turbine Unloaded Here

A 93-ton turbine for Alberta will be unloaded here because the port of Vancouver lacks the necessary heavy-lift facilities.

It is part of a 200-ton shipment of Swiss-built machinery for the new steam power plant in Edmonton due to arrive here Monday aboard the North German Lloyd liner Spreestein.

The giant turbine will be lifted out of the ship's hold by the 100-ton lift crane at the government graving dock in Esquimalt and loaded aboard a specially reinforced flatcar on the dockside.

It will be taken by car-barge from the Canadian National loading slip at Point Ellice to Port Mann on the mainland.

The CNR brought in a depressed bed flatcar from Eastern Canada to carry the turbine which is 20 feet long, 14 feet wide and 13 feet high.

Tunnels, bridges and other clearances along tracks between here and Edmonton have been carefully checked to make sure it will pass in safety.

Steps Taken To Guard City Art

Recent thefts of valuable art treasures in Vancouver have caused Greater Victoria Art Gallery officials to take extra precautions.

A hidden warning system has been in use for some months at the gallery. A professional patrol system has now been added, and city police are assisting. There are caretakers on the premises 24 hours a day.

"Even though we are not yet in the category of the larger museums with their nationally-known treasures we wish to provide every protection possible for our permanent and loan collection," Colin Graham, curator, said yesterday.

No Need for Alarm — Naturalist Explains

Crows Just Do Their Job

Fears expressed by some Victorians that crows are making tremendous inroads on other bird populations of this area need cause no undue alarm, Dr. Clifford Carl, curator of the provincial museum, said yesterday.

He was commenting on a report that in the past year crows have killed 19,000,000 ducks by eating eggs, that they have attacked meadow larks in this district, and have pushed owls out of Oak Bay.

"Crows are predator birds," said Dr. Carl. "It's quite true that they eat the eggs of smaller birds, and even the birds themselves. It seems cruel, but it's all a part of the balance of nature.

"If the crows did not do so, then the smaller birds would increase to a point where they would be a serious pest. The duck figure I have seen in print, but it pertains to the continent.

"I don't know about crows attacking meadow larks.

"These are by nature a field bird, nesting on the ground in open country. Naturally, as Victoria has grown, the larks have gone farther away.

"In any event, the larks can defend themselves fairly well against crows, but are defenceless against the cats that come with city expansion.

"As for the owls, they don't worry about crows. A number of crows may gang up on an owl; otherwise the owls can take care of themselves."

'Champion' Would Protect Little Man from State

OTTAWA (CP) — The individual Canadian needs "a public champion" to protect him from the mass of government orders and regulations, Douglas Fisher (CCF, Port Arthur) said Friday.

The individual should have some form of "built-in protection" against the state in a society moving towards socialism, he said in an interview.

Mr. Fisher was elaborating on a resolution he has presented in the Commons proposing a special committee to study ways of protecting citizens from "the operation of delegated authority" and to scrutinize "the proliferation, logic and fairness" of government regulations.

His regulations suggested two methods: The kind of public champion used in Scandinavian countries, called an "ombundsman," and the formation of a committee similar to the British Parliament's committee on statutory instruments.

Mr. Fisher said the Scandinavian ombundsman is similar to the Canadian auditor-general, but deals with the protection of individuals against state regulations instead of with the control of government expenditures.

By U.S. Order in Canada's North

ESKIMOS SEGREGATED

Ottawa Sets Investigation

OTTAWA (UPI)—A United States company operating the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line in Canada's far north has ordered complete social segregation of its white employees and Eskimos in the area.

The order by the Federal Electric Company Corporation of Paramus, N.J., dated Dec. 10, 1959, applied to its employees, mostly Canadians, in the "pin" sector of the radar line between Cambridge Bay, N.W.T., and the Yukon-Alaska border.

Failure to comply with the rule, the order said, was "cause for discharge."

CAME TO LIGHT

The order came to light yesterday in the Commons when Mervyn A. Hardie (L, Mackenzie River) asked what the government's part was in the action.

Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton said he would check and reply later.

(A company spokesman at Paramus, N.J., said last night that the regulations applying to the relationship between whites and Eskimos were agreed upon by the governments of Canada and the United States in diplomatic notes. He said Federal Electric's contract for the Dew Line operation was with the United States Air Force.

(Discussions in Ottawa between the company and the department of northern affairs Wednesday ended in agreement that "experience over the last several years has indicated that some existing regulations could possibly be relaxed with beneficial results to all concerned," the spokesman added.)

The new regulation has brought protests from several company employees who questioned the right of Federal Electric to prevent fraternization on the basis of race, color or religion. They have also pointed out that the matter involves direction of the personal lives of Canadians on Canadian soil by an American company.

The question is now being reviewed by the government and the company, it was learned.

Some 80 white employees are involved in the order. There are about 500 Eskimos in close touch with the 11 bases in that sector of the line.

HEALTH PROBLEMS

The company order said that fraternization between whites and Eskimos raised "health and sociological problems of mutual concern." It ordered —under threat of dismissal— an end to:

—All white contacts with Eskimos other than those employed by the company except in cases of emergency.

—All "trading, buying, selling and passing of gifts" between whites and Eskimos.

U.S. Youths Stunned

Treason Charged To 'Nazis'

NEW YORK (AP)—The self-proclaimed leader of a Nazi-like party—which aims to "get rid of all Jews"—and two of his first recruits were charged with treason in court Friday.

The treason charge, which could result in the death penalty, stunned the trio.

"I'm insane," moaned John Wallace, 21, leader of the National American Socialist Renaissance party, "I did this in a state of intoxication."

Wallace, who wears a Hitler-style forelock, and his two followers, Hugh Barlow, 20, and Richard Phelps, 16, both house painters, were scheduled to be charged with consorting for an unlawful purpose.

But Magistrate Milton Solomon said: "As I look at it, treason exists where one plots a war against society and his government."

When he ordered new charges, Wallace clutched his stomach and moaned, Phelps began to wail and Barlow looked stunned.

In Detroit, a 14-year-old boy who said he was the Fuehrer of a teen-age club of Nazis told police Friday he and a younger companion painted swastikas on a public school, smashed a school window and left a note reading "Heil Hitler—the Third Reich."

The boy, son of a University of Detroit English teacher, told police he headed a club which an older brother, now with the U.S. armed forces in Germany, organized among neighborhood boys four years ago.

Russians Approve Arms Cut

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union's parliament voted without dissent yesterday to put into effect Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposal to cut the armed forces by 1,200,000 men. It called on the rest of the world to follow the Soviet lead.

Not a voice among the 1,400 members of the Supreme Soviet was raised in protest and Khrushchev thanked them for it.

Khrushchev introduced his proposal Thursday and made it clear that Soviet military might would be stronger, not weaker, following the troop cuts because the money saved could be channeled into the economy and Russia could rely on its nuclear rocket power.

Students Riot In Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) — Two thousand police today fought with and ejected 500 students who broke through security lines at Tokyo international airport in an attempt to halt departure of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi for Washington.

After an hour of fighting that wrecked the interior of the terminal's showplace restaurant, police hauled away the 500 but some 3,000 others massed in the cold rain about a mile and a half from the airport.

Kishi had changed his departure time in hope of minimizing left-wing protest moves.

The students, members of the ultra-leftist National Federation of Students' Self-Government Association (Zengakuren) were protesting against Kishi's scheduled signing of the new U.S.-Japan security treaty. The association's leaders are so radical they were expelled by the Japan Communist party.

Lawyer Names Gaglardi

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi helped prevent a man from receiving $23,000 which was rightfully his, it was alleged in Supreme Court Friday.

Lawyer Jay Gould made the charge as he sought a court order instructing the minister to show why he should not be committed for contempt of court.

COURT ORDER

The man should have received the money under the terms of a court order but Mr. Gaglardi diverted it to a United States bank from which the man would have great difficulty getting it, Mr. Gould told Mr. Justice T. C. Norris. These actions, he said, showed the minister had aided and abetted in the contempt of a Supreme Court order.

BUSINESSMEN

Mr. Gould was appearing for two American businessmen who say they loaned $50,000 to a construction firm building 12 miles of the Trans-Canada Highway near Revelstoke, B.C. He stressed that Mr. Gaglardi was being cited as a citizen and not necessarily as minister of highways.

Mr. Justice Norris reserved judgment as the two-day hearing ended.

Hasty Judge Chided

LONDON (AP)—A British judge was rebuked by the Court of Criminal Appeal Friday for goading a hesitant jury to hurry up with its verdict because he wanted to catch a train.

The appeal court ruled Judge Sir Wintringham Stable had done "a disservice to the cause of justice" by ordering the jurymen to deliver a verdict within 10 minutes or be locked up for the night. Three men found guilty by the jury had their convictions quashed by the appeal judge.

Jail Faces Skipper If Colony Ship Sails

SEATTLE (UPI)—Coast Guard Rear Admiral Allen Winbeck yesterday issued an ultimatum to Donald A. Harrsch, captain of the Galapagos Island colony ship—the Alert.

Winbeck, commander of the 13th coast guard district here, said that if the Alert sailed from its dock at Westport, about 80 air miles from here, intending to continue on its original journey, the ship would be boarded and its captain arrested.

With its entire crew of 19 persons, including three women and four children, seasick and with water up to the deck plates in its engine room, the Alert was towed into Westport yesterday.

Harrsch issued a distress signal for assistance before trying to get over the Gray's Harbor bar at the entrance to that bay.

The coast guard at Gray's Harbor answered the call and the 40-foot ship Invincible stood by the Alert until daylight. At that time a coast guardsman boarded the vessel and guided it over the bar.

Should the Alert now try to sail out of the bay, Harrsch would be taken to the nearest U.S. federal court and charged with operating a ship or motor vessel in a negligent and reckless manner endangering the lives and property of those abord, Winbeck said.

Conviction under such a charge could result in a fine of up to $2,000 and imprisonment of one year or both.

Chief boatswain R. W. Bowell, coast guard commander at Gray's Harbor, said the boat's pump failed on the 100-foot craft causing Harrsch to send out the distress signal.

Stores Hit Within 15 Minutes

Masked Gunmen Grab $150 In Two Nanaimo Holdups

NANAIMO—Masked gunmen held up two corner grocery stores last night and escaped with about $150 and a cash register.

The bandits, with nylon stockings pulled over their heads and covering their faces, raided Dickie's store in Harewood just before 8 p.m. and picked up $100.

SAME PAIR?

It is believed the same pair of gunmen held up Wagstaff's store on Haliburton Street 15 minutes later, taking a cash register containing about $50 and fleeing in a car.

Police set up roadblocks on highways leading from Nanaimo. But witnesses' description of the bandits and their getaway car was hazy.

SON RAN

David Dickie was closing his business when the men entered. One threatened him with an automatic and pushed him against the till. Mr. Dickie's son Grant looked in on the holdup from the rear of the store and rushed back to fetch a shotgun.

Bandits fled before he could run around the outside of the store.

TIDYING UP

At 8.15 p.m., Fred Wong was tidying up the store he leases from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wagstaff, who live in the rear. He glanced up and saw the barrel of a gun pointing at him.

"This is a holdup," barked one of the pair through his mask. They picked up the register and walked out.

Mr. Wong knocked on the wall, and Mrs. Wagstaff ran out just in time to see a dark-colored car race away in the direction of Chase River.

Police Told To Stop Cafe Raids

VANCOUVER (CP) — City police were instructed Friday to suspend laying of charges of illegal possession of liquor in restaurants after B.C. Supreme Court set aside conviction on such a charge.

Counsel for the Geisha Garden Restaurant, fined $1,000 for having whiskey and sake on the premises, said the sake was for cooking and the whiskey had been left following a licenced banquet.

Run Over by Truck, Boy in Fair Condition

A seven-year-old Saseenos boy was in fair condition this morning after being run over by a one-ton truck on Sooke Road last night.

David Leslie Planes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Planes of Laidlow Road, Saseenos, was treated for concussion and a fractured hip after being rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by West Coast Ambulance about 6 p.m.

Police said the boy apparently ran into the path of a panel truck owned by a Port Renfrew logging firm. Police identified the driver as Marshall Johnston, 4143 Hawkes Avenue, Victoria.

The injured boy's nine-year-old brother, Robert, said he and David were on their way to a nearby grocery store at Saseenos to buy some food for the family's supper.

"He ran out to go to the other side of the road and a truck hit him.

"He went right under it, and after he came out behind it he rolled about two or three times. I ran out to look at him and he had blood all over his face," the brother said.
